Prominent Nashville Capitalist Indicted as Result of Wreck of Carnegie Trust Co.

CUMMINS IS ARRAIGNED AND GIVES BOND FOR $50,000

Convicted Robin, a Witness Before Grand Jury That Indicted Cummins---Alleged That Cummins Took Carnegie Trust Money to Protect Stock on Which He Had Secured Loans.

New York, March 21.—Out of the tangle of financial transactions which were first made known by the collapse of Joseph G. Robin's chain of banks, ruined by skyrocket financiering, the grand jury today drew the indictment of William J. Cummins, directing head of the Carnegie Trust Company, for the alleged larceny of $335,000 from the institution a year ago.

Arraigned in court late this afternoon, Cummins pleaded not guilty, with leave to withdraw the plea. Bail was fixed at $50,000 and furnished promptly.

Cummins a Nashville Financier.

Cummins is a Tennessee man who came to New York only a few years ago from Nashville highly recommended as a successful promoter. He gained control of the Carnegie Trust Company and through his solicitation, it is alleged, large city deposits were obtained for the institution shortly after the date of his alleged larcenies.

He is charged in three indictments with larceny in the first degree of these sums: $120,000, $75,000 and $140,000 on April 21, 22 and 23, 1910, respectively.

It is alleged that these sums were borrowed by the Carnegie Trust Company in a note transaction from two other banks and appropriated to Cummins' personal use.

Robin was a witness before the grand jury that returned the indictments. District Attorney Whitman expects other indictments to follow.

Why Cummings Got the Money.

The transactions involved in the charges against Cummins were made, it is alleged, in an explanatory statement issued tonight by the district attorney, when Cummins feared that stock of the Nineteenth Ward bank and the Twelfth Ward bank, which was held for collateral for certain loans, would be sold in the open market. To avert this sale, lest it affect other institutions in which he was interested, it is alleged that Cummins desired to buy off this collateral and therefore made arrangements to borrow money from the Nineteenth Ward bank and then the Van Norden Trust Company.

The money was borrowed, it is alleged, on notes of the Carnegie Trust Company, which were immediately indorsed over to the personal account of Cummins and appropriated, it will be charged, to his personal uses.

NORTHWESTERN MUTUAL IN RECEIVERSHIP FIGHT

Application for Receiver for Tontine Fund Filed in United States Circuit Court.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 21.—An application for the appointmetn of a receiver for the Tontine fund Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Milwaukee, was filed tonight in the United States circuit court here. The petitioners are three Cleveland men, Charles W. Eberhard, Augustus M. Weber and Bernard Miller, policy-holders. They ask for an accounting of the disposition of $7,000,000 of the Tontine dividend fund, claiming that the money was unlawfully diverted by officers and others of the company.

It is alleged that the officers of the company, contrary to law and for the purpose of "making unjust and unlawful profit out of the opportunities of their positions, made loans on the security, not only of the reserve fund of the company, but on the accumulated deferred dividends.

SOUTH SIDE WORK WELL UNDER WAY

Will Pave Fair Street and Open Driveway.

Connecting Driveway Will Be Made Between West End and Grant Park---East Fair Street to Have Smooth Pavement. County Will Do the Work.

The paving of East Fair street with a smooth pavement, from the center of the city to the DeKalb county line, and the opening up of a driveway to connect West End and Grant park are two of the big public improvements that are to be undertaken by the board of county commissioners at a very early date.

This will mean improvements on the south side of the city which will develop a very large section for residential purposes. It is stated by those interested in developments on the south side that nothing could be done that is more desired than the connection of Grant park and West End with a driveway and the repaving of East Fair street with a smooth pavement.

The county will begin at once the work of placing a smooth pavement on East Fair street, and will commence where the belgian block now ends and lay a smooth macadam to the DeKalb county line.

As soon as this work is finished the question of replacing the belgian blocks to the center of the city with a smooth pavement will be taken up and pushed through as rapidly as possible.

Why Fair Street Is Selected.

The reason, it is stated, that East Fair street has been selected for the smooth pavement is that is a long and continuous street that makes a straight line from the center of the city to the line between Fulton and DeKalb counties. It makes direct connection with both Cherokee and Park avenues, which are fine driveways to Grant park. Park avenue is already a wide street and Cherokee avenue is now being widened.

Therefore, when East Fair street has a smooth pavement there will be a straight, fine driveway reaching to the county line with connections to Grant park.

The county board has not decided when it will begin the work of making a driveway to connect Grant park and West End, but it will be at some early date.

To make this connecting driveway the county will connect Gordon street with Glenn street by making an underpass at the Southern railway. There is already an underpass at the Central railroad. To carry out the plan, Glenn street will be widened between Humphries and McDaniel streets, and Georgia avenue widened from the point where it now narrows within two blocks to McDaniel street.

Driveway From Park to West End.

When the work is completed a start can be made from Grant Park, on Georgia avenue, and the driveway will be along Georgia avenue to McDaniel street, on McDaniel street one block to Glenn street, and on Glenn street straight ahead to where it will meet Gordon street.

This will give a drive across a portion of the city which is now absolutely bottled up. A great deal of fine property for residences will be greatly improved, and, in fact, there will be a section for good homes which is now of but small value to the owners.

Everybody will realize the value of a connecting driveway between West End and Grant park.

Colonel Clifford L. Anderson, in speaking of the work the county is to do on the south side, said:

"The county board will begin at once the paving of East Fair street with macadam from where the belgian block now ends to the county line. We have not yet taken up the question of placing a smooth pavement on the street where the begian block is now laid. This will probably be done later on. The board has not decided upon a time for beginning the work on the connecting driveways between Grant park and West End, but the matter is so important that I do not think the delay will be very long. It is our intention to push through all the needed public improvements on the south side as rapidly as possible."

MRS. LENA L. GORDON IS CALLED BY DEATH

Mother of William Gordon, Congressman Howard's Secretary, Dies at Residence.

Mrs. Lena L. Gordon, 80 years of age, died after a brief illness last night at 11:40 o'clock at her residence, 20 Cooper street.

Her son, William T. Gordon, is private secretary to Congressman William Schley Howard.

Miss Mary Belle Gordon, a daughter, Mrs. Rosa Cunningham, a sister, and Dennis Lindsey, a brother, connected with the Telegram Publishing Company, also survive her.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

CRAZY MAN IN STEEL CAGE TO BE SNARED WITH ROPES AND REMOVED TO ASYLUM

Chicago, March 21.—George Odett, for thirty years bereft of reason and locked in a steel cage in the garret of his mother's home near Waukegan, will be snared with ropes tomorrow and taken to the insane asylum at Elgin. The formality of a test of his sanity was gone through today by an examining board which set in the garret while Odett, not knowing the cause of the gathering, shrieked at them and rattled the bars of his cage.

The commitment to the asylum followed the death of Odett's mother at the age of 92 years. For thirty years, since she obtained her son's release from an asylum after a short incarceration, she has remained with him, cut off from the world, seldom leaving the garret, preparing his food and at times the only person to see him for months.

A shock from a toy electric battery at a county fair in Waukegan thirty years ago robbed Odett of his reason and he was sent to an asylum. When Mrs. Odett learned that her son, refusing food, was dying of starvation, she obtained his release on a promise to guard him, and the insane man was returned to her home.

Since that time he has been violent and none has dared approach him. Only his mother remained night and day on the other side of the bars of which his cage was made, fed him, attempted to comfort him and sought to lighten the days.

The test was made today at the request of Ambrose Odett, a brother of the insane man. The prisoner was nude during the hearing. His beard, bloodstained and matted, hung nearly to his knees and his face and body bore marks of frequent struggles against the bars of his cell.

GREENE TELLS HOW HE SPENT LARGE FORTUNE

Worth $700,000 Before Conviction, Says He Is a Pauper Now.

MONEY SPENT IN STOCKS, REAL ESTATE, LAWYERS

Burden of Proof Upon Government, Rules Commissioner Walter Colquitt---Clash Between Lawyers---Judge Declares Many Questions of the Government Irrelevant.

Admitting that in 1897 he was worth approximately $700,000, but declaring that he is without funds today, Benjamin D. Greene yesterday began another fight for release from the clutches of the federal government.

He had appeared before United States Commissioner Walter Colquitt to take the pauper's oath, which would have released him from prison. Assistant United States District Attorney Marion Erwin was on hand to oppose his being allowed to take the oath, setting out that the prisoner has property hidden away at this time.

How He Lost Money.

"I have employed in all about 28 lawyers within the past few years," said Greene upon the stand, "and I have paid out in attorneys' fees more than $100,000. I lost over $80,000 in stock speculation, as much more in real estate deals. My wife lost money in the stock market and I made good the losses. My living expenses for a number of years were unusually high."

Greene was sent to the stand within a very few minutes after the hearing before Commissioner Colquitt began and for more than three hours Assistant District Attorney Irwin plied him with most searching questions as to expenditures and business transactions, extending over a period of over ten years. Not once, however, did the witness waver in the story he was telling of losses calculated to eat up a large fortune and when the day's session was over, the general opinion was that Greene had a little more than held his own up to that point.

Burden on Government.

The first disagreement between Attorney Irwin and Attorneys Felder & Rountree, who represented Greene, occurred with less than 5 minutes after the hearing was begun. The contention was as to whether the burden of proof in the case lay on the government or on the applicant for discharge and the Greene forces got the decision in short order.

Mr. Erwin contended that it was necessary for the prisoner to show that he was without funds before the commissioner could allow him to take the pauper's oath, while Attorney Rountree insisted that his client had the right to make the oath without further ceremony, unless the federal authorities, through the district attorney, brought forward evidence to show that the prisoner should not be discharged.

The argument was spirited, but terminated suddenly, when Commissioner Colquitt announced that he had already considered the matter and had decided that the government must show cause why the prisoner should not be allowed to take the oath, and announced that unless this evidence was forthcoming the prisoner would be given the opportunity to make oath to his inability to pay the $575,000 fine.

Tilt Between Lawyers.

A lively tilt between Assistant District Attorney Henley and Attorney Rountree occurred just at the close of this argument. In his argument about the burden of proof, Attorney Rountree had raised the point as to whether or not anyone save the district attorney himself had a right to appear as attorney for the government. Commissioner Colquitt ruled that any representative of the district attorney might appear for him, but Assistant District Attorney Henley wished to make this point thoroughly plain, and insisted on reading the law.

The commissioner informed him that he had already ruled on the point, but the attorney wanted to read the law any way. He started again to read, when Mr. Rountree interrupted with:

"May it please the court, he's not only out of order, but is taking up the court's time and—"

"Aw, sit down, will you?" came back Mr. Henley. "I'm going to read this law." And he did, as Mr. Rountree laughingly followed his advice and took his seat.

Immediately after Commissioner Colquitt ruled that the district attorney must establish the fact that the prisoner has property before he could object to the oath being administered. Mr. Irwin called Mr. Greene to the stand.

One of the first questions put by Mr. Irwin was relative to the prisoner's conviction in Savannah four years ago. Mr. Rountree objected and was sustained. Commissioner Colquitt said that the question at issue was not how the prisoner got his money or when he

Lookout for the "detective auto!"

An auto containing disguised officers of the law will probably go gliding around the city. Its mission will be to catch autos that are going faster than the law allows.

The chief of police has conceived the idea to start out a detective auto every now and then. In the auto will be three or four officers, all disguised. There will be a perfectly adjusted and a reliable speedometer on hand.

As the detective auto makes its rounds it will go just a little faster than the law allows, say, 9 miles in the fire limits and 16 miles outside. Then every time another auto passes the detective auto there will be absolute proof that the law is being violated and a case will be made.

Just see how simple it is: The detective auto will be driven about the principal streets at such a rate of speed that every auto that passes it will be violating the law.

Why Plan Will Be Used.

The plan has been decided upon because every time an auto driver is arrested for exceeding the speed limit he swears that he was not going too fast. The detective auto will clinch him tight and fast. There will be no getting around its evidence.

Then, so it is being stated, very many autos in the city violate the law. It is said that scarcely, if ever, does an auto go as slow as 8 miles in the fire limits and 15 miles outside, but that nearly all go faster. Now, the detective auto will catch all violators, and if what is being said is true, there will be hundreds of violators tried in the police court.

The detective auto is to make its rounds at uncertain times, so no one will ever know when it is out, and it will always be unsafe to pass an auto ahead of you unless you are absolutely sure of your speed.

ASHLEY DIES MARTYR TO FIGHT AGAINST SPINAL MENINGITIS

New York, March 21.—Dr. Edward F. Ashley, a bacteriologist, died on Swinburne Island, in New York harbor, this afternoon a martyr to his fight against the entry to this port of cerebral spinal meningitis through infected Greek immigrants. Inoculated in handling the cases he became ill on Sunday, and though treated with serum by Dr. Simon Flexner, its discoverer, he died of the disease late this afternoon.

Dr. Ashley was a graduate of Yale and of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York city. He had been assisting Dr. A. H. Doty, health officer of the port, for about nine months, and as his chief said tonight, "no man could have been more earnest in his work or faithful in his duties."

The funeral will be held tomorrow and the body will be taken to his home in Waterbury, Conn., for burial. His father and mother were at his bedside when he died.

"His case was exceedingly malignant," Dr. Doty sad toinght, "and a previous attack of bronchitis increased its severity and had largely to do with the fatal result. In this Dr. Flexner concurred.

"Dr Ashley was transferred to Swinburne Island hospital as soon as his case was diagnosed, where special arrangements were made for the administration of the serum. An injection was made at noon yesterday and again at 2 o'clock this morning. A third injection was made, but no special results were obtained."

Ashley was 30 years old, and had been busily engaged taking the suffering Greek immigrants from incoming vessels. Sixteen were removed to Swinburne island, victims of meningitis. Six had died, and in each case an autopsy was performed. While engaged in this work the physician became infected.

SHE URGED GORDON TO KILL HIMSELF

Richmond, Va., March 21.—(Special.) Today the Tenney case was taken up with even greater vigor, Mrs. Tenney's character being the especial subject of attack.

According to the statements of Wendenburg, the attorney for Tenney, he intends to prove that Major E. C. Gordon, a former minister of the Baptist church, has not yet appeared in the case owing to his refusal to testify, because he will not perjure himself and declines to tell the truth on Mrs. Tenney. Wendenburg declared today that Gordon wept when Mrs. Tenney asked him to perjure himself.

Wendenburg claimed that Tillman Bunch had urged Gordon to commit suicide like a gentleman. Wendenburg said, unlike the Prince of Wales, who once refused to perjure himself like a gentleman in a noted scandal in which he was involved, the major had refused to perjure himself, and so refrained from testifying.

Wendenburg then charged that Tillman Bunch some months later, and shortly before he married Mrs Tenney's daughter, wrote to Major Gordon, at the instance of his prospective mother-in-law, urging him to either disappear or commit suicide like a gentleman. The major evidently took the former advice, said Wendenburg, for he left soon afterwards for Texas, where he has since been engaged in promoting and building a railroad.

"If the major had been an imbecile, as counsel for Mrs. Tenney claims," said Wendenburg, "and had he committed suicide, as he was urged to do, the responsibility for his self-murder would have rested on Mrs. Tenney. It appears, however, that he acted on the principle that he who lives and runs away will live to fight another day."

When Wendenburg concludes his argument he will be followed by Royal, counsel for Mrs. Tenney, in rebuttal. The case will then be submitted to Judge Grinnan, who will take several weeks examining the large volume of testimony.

REFORM FIGHT WON BY WILSON

Trenton, N. J., March 21.—After a protracted debate the house today passed the bill providing for sweeping election reforms in New Jersey, over which Governor Wilson and the majority of the democratic leaders of the state have clashed. The vote was 34 to 25, 3 republicans voting for the bill and 10 democrats against it. Numerous amendments were offered by opponents of the measure, but all were voted down.

Republican Leader McCran, in opposing the measure, said it will in effect disfranchise all voters who cannot read English. The bill does not allow voters to take an assistant into the election booth unless they are physically disabled and specifically provides that inability to read or write shall not be considered a disability.

During the debate Mr. McGowan, a democrat, who opposed the bill, was ruled out of order and shouted at the speaker:

"It is bad enough for the governor of the state to be indulging in gag rule without the speaker of the house doing the same thing."

The bill immediately was sent to the senate.

AS GRIM WARNING TO MEXICO

Invasion if It's Necessary

TAFT SENT ARMY TO BORDER

MEXICANS RAID TOWN IN TEXAS

Troops Sent to the Scene From San Antonio.

Rebel Band Crosses Border and Pillages Chishos---People Are Terrorized---Believed Rebels Were Seeking Dynamite in Raid on Town.

Alpine, Texas, March 21.—Word was received here this afternoon from Deputy Sheriff Lafarelle, at Chishos, Texas, that a band of Mexican revolutionists has raided that town and driven horses, cattle and goats across the line into Mexico. Citizens of Chishos are terrorized and ranchmen and their families from the surrounding country are flocking into Chishos.

The officer in command of United States troops at Marathon was asked for a guard, but said he could spare no soldiers. The Alpine Business Men's Club met this afternoon and wired to San Antonio for troops. Chishos is 6 miles north of the Mexican border.

Troops Ordered to Scene.

San Antonio, Texas, March 21.—Upon receipt of the news from Alpine that Mexican marauders had crossed the border near Chishos and driven away cattle, General Duncan, commanding the department of Texas, immediately ordered a troop of the Fourth cavalry at El Paso and a troop of the Third at Marathon to proceed to Alpine.

There is a warehouse at Chishos, in which much dynamite is stored. Should the raiders prove to be revolutionists it is thought likely that the explosive is the real object of their incursions.

MEXICAN REFUGEES STARVING ON THE UNITED STATES SIDE

Tecate, Lower California, March 21.—Mexican refugees to the number of nearly 150 men, women and children, are starving in rude shelters in the hills north of this place on the United States side of the boundary. They fled from Tecate upon the approach of the rebels two weeks ago, and have been living under trees, wagon covers and improvised tents in the open ever since.

More than half are women and children and there is no food to be had. The district is so remote that it will be some days before supplies can reach the refugees. The necessity for it has been reported to the United States army officers.

At Last the President Makes Clear the Purpose of the Mobilization of Troops in Texas.

AMERICANS IN MEXICO MUST BE PROTECTED IN LIFE AND PROPERTY

Failure of Mexico to Do This Will Result In Action by the United States---Taft Says He Mobilized the Army Because of Information That Things Are in Bad Way in Mexico Diaz to Be Given Fair Chance.

Washington, March 21.—The so-called Mexican situation cleared considerably here today. The attitude of the United States government has been made plain and there need no longer be any doubt, it was stated by administration officials today, as to what policy the president has in view.

Mr. Taft has announced that he will do everything possible to maintain the friendly relations that so long have existed between this country and Mexico. Any rupture of these relations must come as the result of some overt act on Mexican soil.

The United States has no desire to interfere in the internal affairs of the southern republic and President Taft will not recommend any such interference to congress unless the circumstances become such as to permit no other possible course.

Troops Mobolized for Emergency.

The American troops were sent to Texas and prepared for any emergency on the strength of reports which indicated that conditions in Mexico were approaching such chaos as at any time might threaten American lives and property in that country. These reports were of such a nature that President Taft felt he could not fail to heed them. He acted quickly and hoped that by acting quickly the threat of danger would be stayed. He believes that to a large extent this has been accomplished. He believes that the presence of the army in Texas, within striking distance of the Mexican border has had a sobering influence and that Americans and American property will be respected.

No Invasion Unless Necessary.

So long as Americans engaged in lawful pursuits are not molested, and so long as American property rights are protected, Mexico need not be alarmed by the reports of an American invasion which have been spread in various quarters.

There will be no move toward the Mexican border unless outrages so

TEXAS IS SUNK BY BROADSIDES

Old "Hoodoo" Warship Yields to Shell Storm.

On Board the Torpedo Boat Stringham, Lower Chesapeake Bay, March 21.—Shattered by a veritable storm of shells, the old battleship Texas rests tonight on the mud of Tangier Sound. The veteran of the United States navy sank under the spectacular marksmanship of her newer sisters.

Gaping holes in her port side and two jagged wounds in her forward armor, where shells passed completely through her, showed how she succumbed.

The broadsides delivered by the battleship New Hampshire at a varying distance of from 6 to 7½ miles were considered remarkable by ordnance officers. More than one-third of all the shots were said to have gone true. All of the broadsides were delivered against the Texas, while the attacking vessel was steaming back and forth at approximately a ten-knot speed. The ninteenth broadside practically gave the old warrior her finishing blow.

$200,000 Loss by Fire.

Staunton, Va., March 21.—Approximately $200,000 damage was caused by a fire which threatened to destroy the business section here today. The conflagration started shortly after midnight in a stable and spread rapidly. The firemen worked until noon before extinguishing the flames. The Staunton Milling Company's plant and a block of stores were destroyed and the Beverly hotel damaged about $5,000.

flagrant as to call for the presence of a protecting force occur.

Even in the event of such an outbreak, President Taft would not think of acting without the consent of congress.

The president felt it was his duty as commander-in-chief of the army and navy to prepare for an emergency, so that if congress should be called upon to act, its orders could be carried out with the greatest possible speed.

Diaz to Have Every Chance.

How long the troops will remain in Texas will depend entirely upon developments in Mexico. The United States government has determined to give President Diaz every possible chance to restore order in his republic.

President Taft has determined that this government shall fulfill its international obligations in stopping the smuggling of arms and ammunition across the border when it is known they are to be used for purposes of war. The enforcement of the neutrality laws called for the presence of many additional troops and was one of the causes of the recent army movements. Having carried out its obligations in this respect, the United States would feel free to act further if the necessity might arise.

President Taft is hopeful this necessity will not arise, but so long as there is a possibility of danger he will keep an adequate force near at hand.

Mexico Has Made No Protest.

Mexico has made no protest against the presence of troops in Texas. Such a protest would be regarded as undiplomatic, inasmuch as the troops are on American soil and must remain on American soil until congress shall otherwise direct.

President Taft repeatedly has assured the Mexican ambassador, Mr. de la Barra, that the Mexican government need feel no alarm over the movement of the troops. He has sent the same assurances to the City of Mexico. These assurances are in line with the policy of the administration to maintain the friendliest of relations so long as such relations are possible.

There is every reason to believe tonight that the troops will remain in Texas for at least four months. Meantime, they will not be idle.

The mobolization of the army will be taken advantage of to impart invaluable training to the officers and men of the regular establishment and to many officers of the state militia organization who will be sent to Texas from time to time during the maneuvers.

Taft Hopes for Peace.

President Taft hopes that the sending of the army to Texas will prove to have been a peace move. He declared to several callers at the white house today that he ought to be the last person in the world to be suspected of jingoism—that nothing was further from his mind. Political considerattions, the president declared, had not entered into the operations from any possible angle.

Mr. Taft is fully aware that an attack is to be made upon him in congress by some of the republican insurgents and possibly by some of the democrats, but he is said to be prepared to defend his course from every point of view.

HOPE FOR PEACE IN MEXICO IS NO LONGER ENTERTAINED

Mexico City, March 21.—Thirty-six hours after the arrival at the capital of Minister Limantour, the man who was heralded as the one that would bring peace to Mexico, there was evident no sign of any cessation of hostilities.

Madero's forces in the north were actively carrying out their campaign, and the war department had not rescinded any of its orders for their opposition.

Civil war exists today as it did the day before the minister arrived, and those who had hoped his coming would mean a speedy solution of the problem admit now that the minister meant just what he said when he stated that he bore from the rebels no terms of peace, and that he himself had not definite plans for bringing the revolution to an end.

It is possible that a statement will be made, but unless two things are agreed to, there is little hope of peace, according to local opinion, both government and revolutionry. Unless the government agrees to provide for another national election and agrees to permit the rebels to retain their arms while carrying out a truce, there can be nothing but a continuation of the fighting, according to the rebels. Many men entirely loyal to the federal government also believe this is true.

CROWD IS DRAWN BY WASHINGTON

When He Appears in N. Y. Police Court.

Police Reserves Called Out to Control the Crowd---Felony Charge Against Wielder of Club Dropped---Washington Does More Explaining.

New York, March 21.—Through an agreement of counsel for both sides, the charge of felonious assault made by Booker T. Washington against Albelt Ulrich, a white man, growing out of an attack upon the negro educator on Sunday night, was reduced to one of simple assault today. Instead of the case going to the grand jury as a felony, Ulrich waived examination and was held to the court of special sessions on the minor charge with bail reduced from $1,500 to $500.

William J. Gibson, counsel for Ulrich, said the agreement had been reached last night when he was called into conference with attorneys and friends of Washington.

Washington's Head in Bandages.

Intense interest centered in the appearance of Dr. Washington in police court. His head was still swathed in bandages and he arrived in a taxicab, accompanied by former Governor Pinchback, of Louisiana. The west side police court was jammed and the crowd, in which negroes predominated about five to one, extended into the street.

Presiding Magistrate McAdoo, who sat with Magistrate Cornell, examined Dr. Washington and other witnesses in chambers so that the clerk could draw up the modified charge. When Ulrich, who had been in conference with the other witnesses and with Dr. Washington, was called to the stand his lawyer announced that the defendant would waive examination.

"Will $500 be all right?" the magistrate asked.

Each side assented and the bond was at once adjusted.

By this time the crowds in the street had grown to several thousands and Dr. Washington, on leaving had great difficulty in reaching a city automobile assigned to Borough President McAneny. But, escorted by Mr. McAneny and Deputy Police Commissioner Flynn, he forced his way through the throng and was driven quickly away. To clear the street it was necessary to call out police reserves.

Washington Denies Interview.

Booker Washington denied today the reported interviews in which he was quoted as having said that a letter or telegram had caused his presence in West Sixty-third street Sunday night, when he was severely beaten by a white apartment house resident.

"I never told anyone, the police or the reporters, that I had received a letter or a telegram to call upon anyone in West Sixty-third street," said Washington. "I did say that I was looking for D. C. Smith, auditor of Tuskegee Institute; that I believed he could be found with friends, and that, although I did not have their definite name or address, I believed I could find them by scrutinizing the name plates in the vestibules of the apartment houses in Sixty-third street. It was while thus engaged that I was assaulted."

Says He Tore Up Letter.

As a matter of fact, Washington said later, amplifying his earlier statement, he had received such a letter, but it did not figure in his search, because he had torn it up.

The letter, he said, was from his secretary, E. J. Scott, in Tuskegee, in which Scott told him that Daniel Smith, auditor in the institute, would be in about the same time that he (Washington) was, and that his secretary forwarded this information because he thought Washington would like to keep in touch with Smith.

Washington said the letter arrived in New York about the same time he did. Unfortunately, he said, he tore the letter up. As nearly as he could recall its contents, the secretary wrote him that Smith could be found with a family named McCrary, he thought it was, at 11 West Sixty-third street. So last Sunday night Washington went to the house and looked over the names on the letter boxes.

In answer to an intimation which had been contained in some of the newspaper stories, Dr. Washington desired to make a formal denial that he had taken a drink before visiting Sixty-third street Sunday night.

"I never touched a drop of liquor in my life," he said, "and do not have the slightest idea, from experience, what intoxication is like."

SEARCH OF MRS. HULL AND HER DAUGHTER

Washington, March 21.—The publicity which attended the search of the baggage of Mrs. Joseph W. Hull and her daughter of Savannah, Ga., on board the steamer Lusitania by customs officials at New York, March 17, and the criticism of the action of the customs officers was the cause of an official statement on the case made by the treasury department today. The statement says:

"The department was advised that some member or members of the party would attempt to pass certain personal effects through the customs house without the payment of duty, and consequently directions were given for the careful examination of the baggage. This examination disclosed the fact that there had been omitted from their declarations over $600 worth of dutiable merchandise. In accordance with the law applicable in such cases, seizure of the undeclared articles was made and forfeiture will be completed. The department has, however, not deemed it necessary to report the facts to the United States attorney for his action, in view of the disagreeable notoriety to which the women in question have already been subjected.

"It has no comment to make upon the searching of the persons by the inspectors, except to regret that the facts were made public."

The statement was made after Assistant Secretary Custis had had a talk over the long distance telephone with Collector Loeb.

GOVERNMENT RESTS IN COCA-COLA CASE

Evidence of Defense Will Begin This Morning at Chattanooga.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 21.—The government rested its case this evening in the hearing of the United States against the Coca-Cola people, and immediately the attorneys for the defense made a motion for peremptory instructions to the jury to return a verdict for the defendant on the grounds that the government testimony was not sufficient to warrant a verdict of guilt. The motion was promptly overruled by Judge Sanford, and the defense will begin tomorrow morning the presentation of evidence.

Dr. Wiley, chief of the bureau of food and drugs, of the department of agriculture, Washington, was not put on the stand, the government believing that it had offered sufficient evidence to substantiate its contentions. Dr. Wiley, it is said, will be held in reserve to refute any evidence that may be presented by the defense. Dr. Wiley has been in Chattanooga ever since the trial began, and will remain until its close.

No Coca Nor Kola.

During the day, Dr. H. C. Fuller, of the bureau of chemistry, Washington, stated that coca-cola contained absolutely no coca, and only a slight trace of kola. He declared that the caffeine in the drink was not made of either coca or kola. As a part of his evidence he filed a piece of filter paper through which coca-cola syrup had been filtered, showing the presence of parts of insects and particles of straw and other filth. He stated that the plant, where the syrup was prepared, was in a most filthy and unsanitary condition.

Other eminent scientists testified, all to the same effect that coca-cola is harmful to the human system on account of the presence of caffeine, and to the effect of the drink on the brain, the heart, the spinal cord and other portions of the body. Dr. A. P. Mathews, of the University of Chicago, declared that the action of caffeine was similar in effect to strychnia and that it increases the heart action in similar manner to digitalis, which he declared was a deadly poison.

Chattanooga physicians testified to having treated patients who were "victims of the coca-cola habit."

General Cox, took an active part in the examinatoin of the witnesses today.

PLANT IN FLAMES AFTER EXPLOSION

The explosion of a large tank of gasoline yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in the dyeing department of the McFail Dry Cleaning Company, 124 Highland avenue, wrecked the rear end of the store, and caused a fire which did serious damage to the interior of the building.

The tank was situated in the rear of the store room, where the dyeing is done, and which is separated from the front by a light partition. The force of the explosion blew off the door, broke the windows, and ruined the space back of the partition.

Fire started immediately after the tank had blown up, damaging the entire interior, but which was gotten under control in a short time. No estimate of the loss could be secured last night. The plant is owned by H. M. McFail and E. P. Eve.

WIFE SAYS JARRELL TRIED TO SMOTHER HER

Real Estate Man to Answer Complaint of Wife in Police Court.

W. A. Jarrell, a young real estate man, was arrested at his home, 83 Hill street, late last night, by Police Call Officers Johnson and McWilliams, and taken to police headquarters on complaint of his wife.

Mrs. Jarrell called the police from her mother's home at 18 Kelly street. She said she had fled there, after Jarrell had tried to smother her with a pillow.

In the encounter the young woman told the police that she attempted to defend herself with a razor and a pair of scissors, both of which Jarrell seized. Her sleeve was torn and she showed the officers a bruised arm.

At the station, Jarrell was released on a copy of charges for a hearing before the recorder this afternoon. His domestic life has been aired in that court before. He would make no statement.

MILK DEALER IS FINED FOR SELLING DIRTY MILK

Following the confiscation of two cans of milk, which were unclean, and with leaks stopped by soap, a case was made by the court against the man to whom the liquid had been consigned, as the ruling made several years ago, was to the effect that any package, after being consigned to a common carrier, was the property of the person to whom addressed. The dairy which sent out the confiscated milk is in Fairburn. A fine of $15 and costs was imposed upon C. B. Webb, the local dealer, with the understanding that he could settle it with the dairyman. It has been decided that all milk shipped here will be investigated, and the permit of the dairy involved revoked in case the goods be in an unsanitary condition.

DRAMATIC SCENE IN "QUEEN ESTHER"

Flashlight of striking moment in '"Queen Esth er," musical drama presented by the Jewish Temple Sunday school in Cable Hall last night.

Before an audience that overflowed Cable Hall last night, "Queen Esther," a musical drama, written by Rabbi A. S. Kleinfeld, was produced and delighted to an extravagant degree the many Gentiles as well as the Hebrews who were present.

The entire play, produced by a cast that had never appeared on the stage before, was dainty and exquisite, the music being beautifully melodious, the chorus neat, pretty, and well-trained, and the principal characters beautiful or strong according to their parts.

Miss Dora Elson, who played the part of the deposed Queen Vashti, was especially good, as well as being one of the most beautiful o fthe characters. Her acting was superb.

Esther, the Jewess, who became queen after Vashti had been deposed, was played by Miss Sadie Goldstein, who was easily the favorite of the evening. Aside from the fact that she was beautiful, her acting was of the highest order, and her singing magnificent.

Mr. David Coleman, as King Asahuerus; Mr. Samuel B. Edison, as Haman, the king's favorite; Mr. Charles Pearl, as Mordecai, Esther's uncle; Mr. Percy Rosenberg, as the king's jester; Mr. M. N. Kaplan, as Charbonai; Miss Ruth Saul, as Zeresh; Miss Esther Dana, as maid to Zeresh; Miss Esther Silverman, as a flower girl; Mr. S. F. Schlesinger, as the herald; Mr. Oscar Gershon, in solo, Al Naharos Bovel; Misses Jennie Saul, Sophie Saul, Ethyl Sinco, Esther Zaban and Evelyn Cohen, as maidens, all made strong impressions on their audience.

Special ushers—Misses Sylvia Schlomberg, Ethel Viola Saul, Blumie Sater, Estelle Saul and Lily Silverman—appointed from the Sunday school as ushers, were prominent in aiding in the comfort of the audience.

Nearly three hundred who had purchased seats were unable to see the performance, as the fire department rules require that but eight hundred people can occupy the hall at once, and these were the last. The play will probably be reproduced at one of the local theaters next week, where a larger audience can witness the play.

"STORK MAYOR" ADVOCATING TAXATION OF THE BACHELORS AND A PREMIUM ON BABIES

Springfield, Ill., March 21.—Prevention of race suicide, encouragement of increase in population and taxation of bachelors are the features of two bills which will be introduced in the senate by Senator Beall, otherwise known as the "stork mayor of Alton."

The first, or anti-race suicide bill, provides for the payment of $100 to the mother of each child born within two years after her marriage, and for each additional child born every two years. The premium on twins is fixed at $200, and on triplets $300.

The other bill places a tax of $10 a year on bachelors over 35 years of age, the amount to be set aside for the payment of premiums to mothers.

HONDURAN TROOPS IN MURDEROUS RIOT

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, March 21.—General Lara and General Palma, each of whom commanded divisions of the Honduran government troops in the recent rising in this country, were shot and killed in a riot at Comayaguela, a suburb of Tegucigalpa, on Sunday. The riot subsequently became a pitched battle and it is estimated that not less than forty of the followers of the two generals were killed and some fifty others, including several women spectators, wounded. Among the dead is a son of General Dioncio Guiterres.

The riot started at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The respective forces of General Lara and Palma, who had been brought up to assist in the defense of Tegucigalpa against the rebels, had occupied the suburb of Comayaguela.

They had not yet disarmed, according to the agreement entered into by the government and the revolutionary leaders with the peace conferees, who met at Puerto Cortez and arranged a temporary settlement of the troubles and after the first collison they were quick to draw the firearms and machetes. Generals Lara and Palma took part in the fighting, which lasted for more than an hour.

GRIFFIN FARMER STRANGELY DISAPPEARS

Griffin, Ga., March 21.—(Special)—S. S. Pitts has disappeared mysteriously from his home in this city, and fears are entertained by his family and friends that he has met with foul play. When he left he stated that he was going to Greenwood, Ga., to see his sister, Mrs. Roan, but according to a letter written from there, he had not been to that place.

Pitts was a tenant on the place of Captain S. Grantland. He had acted very strangely before leaving home and this causes his friends to be all the more uneasy about him.

He married a Miss Moore, daughter of William M. Moore, of Molena, and has many relatives in Pike county, but nothing has been heard or seen of him there.

He is about 40 years old, dark complexion, clean shaven and about 5 feet 10 inches in height. Any information about him would be appreciated if made known to his family or the chief of police at Griffin, Ga.

MORE WORK FOR COPS WITHOUT EXTRA PAY

The change made by council of the afternoon session of the police court from 2:30 to 1 o'clock seems to meet with the approval of Recorder Broyles and his assistant, Wesley H. Preston, but it does not appear to meet with the approbation of the members of the police force who are on the evening watch.

The change, it is said, was made in order to get the policemen on the evening watch out on their beats as early as possible. With the afternoon session of the court convening at 2:30 o'clock it has been almost a daily occurrence for several policemen to be in the police court as witnesses long after their watch had gone on duty. With the court convening at 1 o'clock it is believed that at 4 o'clock, when the evening watch goes on duty police court will have adjourned.

While the policemen are not making any open complaint, it is understood that they are not at all well pleased with having to go to work every day at 1 o'clock instead of 2:30 o'clock. The change gives them an hour and a half more work without any extra pay.

"FARMERS SHOW INTEREST IN DISTRICT SCHOOLS"

—Prof. E. C. J. Dickens

Professor E. C. J. Dickens, president of the First District Agricultural school, located at Statesboro, Ga., made a hurried business trip to Atlanta yesterday in the interest of the school, leaving on the train at midnight.

Professor Dickins has made the First District School, a force in that section of the state, its growth and work under his administration for the past few years having been marvelous.

He was here making some purchases for the school and incidentally to investigate the application of an Atlanta boy who is seeking to enter the school. To a reporter for The Constitution Professor Dickens gave an interesting interview on the benefit the agricultural schools hold out to the boys and girls of the state.

"Yes, sir, I believe in the work these district agricultural schools are doing in Georgia," he said. "I believe, in fact, I know, that the farmers of Georgia are aroused on the subject of educating their boys to become farmers.

"All of the district schools are doing fine work. And actual results on the farms of Georgia will be realized this year.

"But you ask specifically about my school.

"Well, you know that Bulloch county is a commonwealth in itself. Consequently those people put up about $125,000 to locate the school at Statesboro. Hence, we are located on a 300-acre farm and have two large brick dormitories and a modern brick academic building. In this building we have our auditorium, class rooms, the agricultural, domestic science and domestic art laboratories and our music department.

"I am not boasting when I say that the great reason why our school has grown so rapidly in the last year is due to two reasons, namely, ours is a health place and because I have a faculty of competent teachers who are actually doing the work intended for these schools to do.

"For instance, there is Professor O. T. Harper, our agriculturist, a graduate of the University of Georgia and the Agricultural college. He is a strong man in his place. There is Professor F. M. Rowan, professor of mathematics and mechanics, who is a graduate of the Georgia Tech. He is a born teacher and a strong man. The same thing is true of Miss Josephine Jordan, our professor of domestic science; Miss Ethel Wood, professor of domestic art; Miss Lucy Roberts, of our English department, and Miss Eva Mullens, of our history and drawing department. Miss Ethel Bomar, of our music department, has some thirty girls in her class.

PROF. E. C. J. DICKENS,
President of the First District Agricultural School.

"Now, you see what we are trying to do. We take the position that the farmer's son and daughter should be thoroughly educated and given culture as well as the city folks. We place great emphasis upon work.

"The young man in his overalls or the young lady in her apron is king and queen in Georgia. We want only such students as are willing to work. And I am gratified to know that we have about all we have room for. One hundred and seventy-five students have matriculated since this school year began and if I had room in my dormitory I could have 300.

"If this is not practical education I do not know what is."

WILL LAY CORNERSTONE FOR WALKER ST. SCHOOL

Grand Master George M. Napier will preside at the Masonic ceremonies attending the laying of the cornerstone of the new Walker street school, near the corner of Walkes and Haynes streets, next Saturday afternoon. Members of city council have formally accepted the invitation to be present at this occasion, and Mayor Courtland S. Winn will speak.

As council refused to provide a cornerstone for the Walker street school. Harry Leslie Walker, its architect, has agreed to pay for one out of his own pocket.

FAIR WEATHER TODAY, SAYS THE FORECASTER

But Cloudy Weather Is Expected Now, Says Von Herrmann.

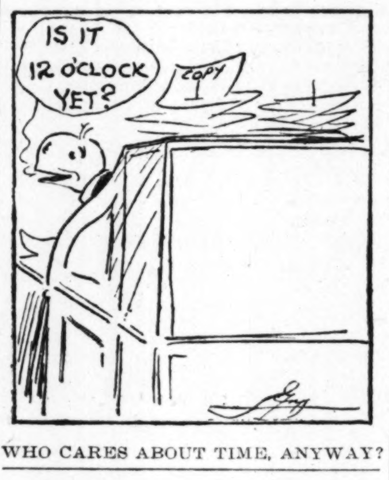
Fair weather in indicated for Atlanta and vicinity today.

Although the prospects for a continuation of the warm weather are all that could be desired, there are abundant indications that cloudy weather may follow in a short time and rain may be the result.

"It's hard enough to have to work in the day time and watch the hands of the clock go 'round," said the Gopher, "but think how much harder it is to have to toil away at night and wait for 12 o'clock to come.

"You know that at night 12 o'clock has a way of never coming at all; most of us have tried it and we know how it is. Speaking of leaden feet, 12 o'clock midnight, has got 'em all walking on feather beds. It just never happens, that's all.

"Well, having decided unanimously that 12 o'clock at night never comes, just picture to yourself the plight of the poor slave who has to work on a morning newspaper until that hour and who can see an invitation to a near-by club running through every line of his copy. Isn't it a subject over which we should shed the briny dew? Answer all the class: 'Why, yes, teacher, we should say that it is.'"



WHO CARES ABOUT TIME, ANYWAY?

Chicken fanciers, don't fail to read poultry column in today's issue.

FORREST AND THOMAS WILL WORK FOR SOUTH

They Will Become Connected With Southern Commercial Congress.

Washington, March 21—Nathan Bedford Forrest, of Memphis, adjutant general of United Sons of Confederate Veterans, is in Washington to confer with officials of the Southern Commercial Congress regarding his permanent association with the work of the congress subsequent to the confederate reunion, to be held in Little Rock in May of this year.

James Shelby Thomas, dean of the Virginia Christian college of Lynchburg, will become commissioner of education of the Southern Commercial Congress June 1. Mr. Thomas was from 1905 to 1909 state superintendent of rural schools for Virginia, and in that time raised by private subscription half a million dollars for school improvement.

GEORGIA CONCERN MUST FIGHT SUIT OVER AGAIN

Court of Appeals at New Orleans Reverses Decision of Lower Court.

New Orleans, March 21.—The United States circuit court of appeals today granted a new trial in the case of Haven and Clement, of Georgia, against D. W. James. The suit involves money advanced by plaintiffs on margins in cotton speculation.

Haven and Clement secured a verdict in the lower court, but James declined to repay the cash, pleading that the transaction involved gambling.

The appellate court held that the trial judge should have been specific in charging the jury as to the public policy denying recovery on wagering contracts, also as to right of recovery when money is advanced willingly on such contracts.

NEGROES TO BE BARRED BY CANADA OFFICIALS

165 Blacks From Oklahoma Won't Be Allowed to Enter.

Winnipeg, Man., March 21.—Officers of the immigration department left today for Emerson on the border, to stop the entry into Canada of 165 negroes from Oklahoma, who intended to settle in the Canadian northwest. The railway company has appealed to Washington and Consul General Jones has been instructed to see that they get through.

Washington, March 21.—In response to complaints that negro immigrants from America would be refused admission to Canada, the state department asked United States Consul Foster, at Ottawa, whether, under Canadian law, any American citizen as a class could be excluded on account of their color.

Today the department received a reply stating there were no Canadian immigration regulations specifically relating to negro immigrants, if not in prohibited classes, and each possessor of $5 cash and transportation was entitled to admission.

This information will be telegraphed to American Consul Jones at Winnipeg.

Women Oppose Open Town.

Hunnewell, Kan., March 21.—Because they believe the men are running the city as a "wide open" border town, the women of Hunnewell have decided to take a hand in the city government. At a caucus of women held today Mrs. J. E. Wilson was nominated for mayor and Mrs. G. A. Osborn for police magistrate.

Price of Nails Advanced.

Philadelphia, March 21.—At a meeting here today of the Cut Nail Manufacturers' Association, which practically controls the nail industry of the United States, the price of cut nails was advanced from $1.60 f. o. b. Pittsburg to $1.70 base Pittsburg in car lots. This is equivalent to an increase of $2 a ton. The advance is due, it is said, to the increased cost of raw material.

NEPOTISM LAW AND ITS EFFECT

How Law Will Operate in the Election of City Officials.

Now that the nepotism ordinance has been adopted by council and will be a law just as soon as the mayor can put his pen to it, it will probably be of some interest to many to know exactly what the nepotism ordinance means. It was published in full in The Constitution yesterday morning, but it is phrased with some legal trimmings which may make it seem ambiguous to the laity.

In the first place, the ordinance prohibits the employment by the city of any person who is related to the mayor and general council or the members of any of the city boards unless his election or appointment is approved by the mayor and a two-thirds vote of the general council. That is, if a person who is related, as stated above, wants a city job he can get it after he has been elected or appointed, provided his appointment is ratified by the mayor and a two-thirds vote of council. This is called the "limelight regulation."

It is specifically stated that the law will not apply to persons who secure city jobs when their fitness for service is based upon eligibility. That means that such employees as teachers, policemen and firemen who have to stand examinations will not be compelled, if they are kin to city officials, to have council approve their election.

The provisions of the ordinance will not apply to those who are appointed by heads of departments elected by the people, when announcements are made of such appointments before the election. That is, Mr. X—— can run for city clerk and put on his ticket Mr. Y——, who is his brother, and if he is elected the council will have nothing to do with Mr. Y's job.

The punishment for violation of the ordinance is a removal from office for a breach of duty.

The ordinance winds up with the statement that "no person shall be disqualified from holding municipal office elected by the people by reason of kinship, either with the mayor or any member of the general council."

ROSE'S "FOREFATHER" CORN
ROSE'S "PURITY" WHISKEY

In "FOREFATHER" we offer the highest achievement in corn whiskey distilling. It is just as good today as when your father and grandfather bought it—and is just as good for you as it was for them. "Forefather" was the first corn whiskey to be aged in charred barrels—and it's still the best. Its quality, flavor, body and bouquet have never yet been equaled by the army of imitators. If you prefer corn whiskey, let it be "Forefather"—a blend of straight old corn whiskies.

In "PURITY" we offer the finest example of Straight Tennessee Whiskey that the market affords. By the unequaled method of filtering through sugar maple charcoal, it is rendered absolutely pure, and given a flavor and aroma that pleases everybody. It is distilled from full, ripe, plump grain, thoroughly aged, and bottled in Rose's sanitary bottling plants. If you have never tasted "Purity" give it a trial now. It is so superior to other Tennessee whiskies that you will thank us for bringing it to your attention.

BICYCLE WAS DIVIDED TO SETTLE KNOTTY CASE

If two boys were in court before you as judge and both claimed a bicycle and the claims of both seemed about equal, what would you do?

In the police court yesterday morning Claude Dollar, a white boy, appeared to prosecute Henry Johnson, colored, on the charge of stealing a bicycle. Johnson showed by good evidence that he had bought the wheel. Dollar showed by equally as good evidence that the wheel had the same number as his. It was further in evidence that the negro had ridden the wheel before the white boy said his had been stolen. The whole case was pretty badly mixed and both boys wanted the wheel. What did Recorder Broyles do?

He had the bicycle taken to pieces and gave the white boy the frame, which bore his number, and gave the negro boy the wheels, upon which he had ridden so long.

Both boys appeared satisfied and went away, one carrying the frame and the other the wheels.

CLAIMS TO HAVE BEEN FIRST MAN TO EXPLORE ROCK HOUSE CAVE

The Constitution is in receipt of a letter from W. A. Snow, of Quincy, Fla., in which he tells of reading in The Constitution of last Sunday account of the taking especially for this paper of the first picture of the interior of Rock House cave, near Cordele, Ga., and puts forth his claim of being the first man to reach the furtherest extremity under ground in that cave.

Mr. Snow's letter is as follows:

Editor Constitution: I see in a recent issue of your paper where explorers have found in the Rock House cave, near Cordele, Ga., an old paper, The Cordelean.

I, in company, with Guyton Fisher, was the first man, I think, to reach the extremity of Rock House cave. This was when Cordele was wearing her swaddling clothes.

I was at the time working on The Cordelean and remember to have carried in and left the paper that was recently found. But how the paper could remain in a state of preservation I do not understand.

The cave is most assuredly a wonderful place—full of curiosities.

ROOM FOR THE VETERANS IN THE NEW COURTHOUSE

After having been for years without adequate quarters, the six camps of confederate veterans of Fulton county are at last to be quartered in a room set aside for this purpose in the new courthouse when it is completed. This room will be general headquarters for all the camps and will probably also serve for the United Sons of Confederate Veterans and the Daughters of the Confederacy.

For the present, accommodations for the veterans have been secured in one of the court rooms in the courthouse annex, and when this building is dismantled to make room for the new one, the quarters will probably follow the court into the old city hall.

There are in all about 1,000 veterans now living in Fulton county. They are divided into six camps—Stonewall Jackson, Tige Anderson, the Atlanta Camp, Walker, Wheeler and Longstreet camps. Until recently the headquarters of the various camps were located at various places, the quarters in most places being wholly inadequate and anything but in keeping with the quarters furnished veterans in other cities.

A short time ago a committee from the different camps, headed by Mr. McNeal, of the Joe Wheeler camp, appeared before the county commissioners and made an appeal for proper quarters. The commissioners immediately took up the matter, secured a court room as temporary quarters and promised a room especially for this purpose in the new building.

Helps Bowels in Old Age; Sample Free

It is a problem with many old people how to keep themselves in health. Their prime trouble is with the stomach and bowels. When these become deranged bad health follows, because one cannot be constipated and feel good. Keep the bowels open—no better advice can be given to anyone, especially in old age. But it is well to know just what to take to relieve the distress. Those who speak from a long experience say that is best suited to the requirements of people of advancing age. These, like children and women, need a gentle, pleasant-tasting laxative, not a strong cathartic pill or a violent salt or purgative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is mild but promptly effective and a guaranteed cure for chronic constipation, indigestion, drowsiness after eating, liver trouble, belching, sour stomach and the many other little ailments that follow a disordered stomach, liver or bowels. To convince anyone of its merits before buying a bottle in the regular way of a druggist, Dr. Caldwell will send a sample bottle free of charge on receipt of name and address. Try it yourself in the free sample and when sure it is the remedy you want do as all others do and buy it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. The latter is for family use and is bought by those who always keep it in the house, which thousands do.

DR. CALDWELL PERSONALLY WILL BE PLEASED TO GIVE YOU ANY MEDICAL ADVICE YOU MAY DESIRE FOR YOURSELF OR FAMILY PERTAINING TO THE STOMACH, LIVER OR BOWELS, ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE. EXPLAIN YOUR CASE IN A LETTER AND HE WILL REPLY TO YOU IN DETAIL. FOR THE FREE SAMPLE SIMPLY SEND YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS ON A POSTAL CARD OR OTHERWISE. FOR EITHER REQUEST THE DOCTOR'S ADDRESS IS DR. W. B. CALDWELL, 707 CALDWELL BLDG., MONTICELLO, ILL.

I will tell you how well I am pleased with Syrup Pepsin. I was down with diarrhoea for three months and I tried the doctor and he did me no good, and I tried other medicines without any relief. I then sent for a sample of your Syrup Pepsin, used it, and bought a 50-cent bottle and used about half of it. It cured me and it also cured my little boy. You may print this letter if you like.—T. H. Marshall, Nail, Okla.

I saw your ad. in the paper and as I had tried everything I could hear of I wrote you for a sample, and it helped me so much from the very first dose that I bought a bottle from our druggist. I am now on my second bottle and will say it has done me more good than all the doctors and all the other remedies I have ever tried. I am past 60 years old and have suffered with constipation and stomach trouble for several years, but have never found anything to give me the relief Syrup Pepsin has. Before taking your medicine life was almost a burden to me. Now I feel like a 16-year-old boy. I take pleasure in recommending your remedy to any one suffering with stomach trouble and constipation. JAS. W. MOORE,
Clerk, Clother Hotel, Columbus, Neb.

I received your sample of Syrup Pepsin and liked it all right. Am now buying of the druggist here. It is good in the cure of stomach trouble.—F. RHEAM, Seneca, Mo.

IRE AT VALDOSTA DOES $50,000 DAMAGE

The Fire Caught From the Furnace in Fender's Mill.

Valdosta, Ga., March 21.—(Special.) A disastrous fire which started about 6 o'clock this evening totally destroyed the large sawmill plant of the Fender Lumber Company, together with thousands of feet of lumber, and the plant of the Thomas Grate Bar Company, two of the leading industries of Valdosta.

The loss is approximately $50,000, which it is understood is only partially covered by insurance. The plant of the Thomas Grate Bar Company was valued at between $30,000 and $40,000, and probably $10,000 worth of valuable patterns in addition were burned.

The Fender Lumber Company operated an extensive sawmill plant, and all of this, except the planing mill, was burned.

The company has recently erected a modern cash, door and blind factory in connection with its mill business, and this was saved.

Weak water pressure and a strong wind handicapped the firemen in fighting the flames.

SEEK TO ANNUL SALE OF WILCOX PROPERTY

Suit Promises to Be One of the Most Sensational Ever Held in Fitzgerald Court.

Fitzgerald, Ga., March 21.—(Special.) A suit for the recovery of land sold by the late B. E. Wilcox as executor of his father's estate has been brought by the Wilcox heirs and bids fair to be the most sensational of any filed for the approaching term of court.

It will be contended by the plaintiffs that the executor failed to procure proper orders from the court to sell the land. On the other hand, the defendants will produce a document in the nature of a power of attorney which is supposed to have given Wilcox the necessary and proper authority.

From the fact that the late Hon. B. E. Wilcox left a name enviable in the memory of all who knew him, the suit as brought by the heirs has had a startling effect.

Greeks Were Fined.

Manchester, Ga., March 21.—(Special.)—This morning, at the depot of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, five Greek laborers were taken into custody by Chief of Police Crim. The five, while waiting for a train to take them to Cordele, where they are to join a laboring gang employed in that city, were indulging in a game of cards.

Not one of their number could speak a word of English. An interpreter was finally located, and the Greeks were fined $10 by Mayor Lamar.

MACON CLUBS WILL GO TO THE COURTS

Charges Are Docketed Against Elks, Eagles and Progress Clubs.

Macon, Ga., March 21.—(Special.)—Charges of violating the city locker club ordinance, wich requires among other things a license payment of $300, were docketed against The Elks, the Eagles and the Progress Clubs this afternoon by Chief of Police Chapman.

Neither of the clubs has paid the city the license, nor delivered to the police department duplicate keys and list of mebers as the law requires. It is understood that the three clubs will jointly contest the legality of the social club ordinance.

The decision will affect the clubs in Atlanta and elsewhere in the state. It will be claimed that after the clubs are chartered and pay the state a license of $500 the city has not the right to exact a further tax.

A peculiar situation has arisen here in the docketing of the charges.

The recorder, the mayor and every member of council belong to one of the three clubs and are thus disqualified to try the cases. A disinterested attorney will probably be appointed to act as recorder. The cases will be heard Wednesday morning.

The three clubs have an aggregate of fifteen hundred members.

GOOD ROADS ENTHUSIASTS MEET AT THOMASVILLE

Delegates Will Be Present at Today's Meeting From Several Counties.

Thomasville, Ga., March 21.—(Special.)—The towns all along the line of the proposed national highway between Albany and Florida via the Camilla-Thomasville route have signified their intention to send strong delegations to Thomasville on Wednesday to attend the meeting called here to put up a fight to get the highway.

The county commissioners say that if it is a question of good roads there is no doubt that this route will be selected, as it has the call over all the others proposed.

The roads have been gone over carefully, and in spite of the dry weather are in fine condition. Some parts of Thomas county and the adjoining section received a good supply of rain yesterday afternoon and last night, although the amount which fell in Thomasville was very small.

It will benefit the roads, however, in places where they have been recently worked, and they are expected to be all that could be wished by the time the scouting parties are ready to come to Thomasville.

Will Be Held Without Bond Until Ross' Condition Is Determined.

Athens, Ga., March 21.—(Special.)—Albert and T. W. Mobley, young white men, have been committed to Clarke county prison without bail by the investigating court, the mayor's court of Athens, the charge against them being assault with intent to murder.

The person assailed was Andrew Ross, about 60 years old, and alleged to have bee nstabbed and cut by the Mobley boys. He is still in a precarious condition, and the young men will be held pending a turn in his condition

ROME MAN RUNS AMUCK.

Daniel Holt, yard foreman of the Southern railway, after midnight shot at a negro hackman, who was driving him, then held up three white men, Millard Dabbs, Nathan eard Beard Moses Aycock, and made them march in front of him 2 miles back to town.

Holt was fined $25 and costs in police court and bound over to the state courts on the charge of pistol-carrying.

MACON POLICE AFTER AUTO SPEED FIENDS

Macon, Ga., March 21.—(Special.)—Five autoists were arrested this afternoon and warrants sworn out against six others for operating their machines beyond the speed limit in the city limits. This activity of the police comes as the result of the killing of a boy by an automobile Sunday afternoon.

He will probably remain here for several days.

Athens, Ga., March 21.—(Special.)—The remains of Mrs. Howell Cobb Davis, whose death occurred at Comer, were interred in Oconee cemetery, this city, Rev. P. W. Davis, of Lexington, her brother-in-law, conducting the services at the request made by the deceased several months ago. Mrs. Davis was the widow of the late chief of police of this city; is survived by two sons, Messrs. Fred L. and Cobb Davis, of this city, and two daughters, Mrs. J. D. Thompson, of Comer, and Mrs. Lee Davis, of Atlanta.

CLEMENCY ASKED FOR A. D. OLIVER

Petition Will Claim His Conviction Was Due to Mistaken Identity.

Attorneys representing A. D. Oliver, of Decatur county, sentenced in May, 1910, to four years in the penitentiary on the charge of bigamy, have filed a petition for clemency with the prison commission and the case will probably be heard at the meeting of the commission in April.

It is understood the petition for clemency will be based on the allegation that Oliver's conviction was the result of a case of mistaken identity. It is claimed that Oliver has frequently been mistaken for a twin brother, whose name is L. C. Harding, who was adopted by a northern family, and it is claimed that at the time of his trial much of the evidence was based upon his alleged identification with Harding.

A Bad Stomach

Lessens the usefulness and mars the happiness of life, which it fills with aches and pains and indescribable discomforts.

It's a weak stomach, a stomach that cannot properly perform its functions because it lacks vigor and tone.

It's the stomach of a dyspeptic.

Among its symptoms are distress after eating, nausea between meals, heartburn, belching, vomiting, flatulence and nervous headache.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills cure a bad stomach, indigestion and dyspepsia, and the cure is permanent.

Miss Minta Langstaff, 719 Orchard St., Zanesville, Ohio, says: "For years I suffered constantly from dyspepsia. Four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla permanently cured me."

Fitzgerald, Ga., March 21.—(Special.)—Owing to unavoidable delay J. H. Berger did not arrive here until this morning, and no flights were attempted today. Over one hundred men with teams have been working today getting the ground in readiness. With Mr. Berger came Joseph F. Downey and Fred Ells with a Bleriot monoplane and a Farnam-Curtis biplane.

The regular flights will commence Wednesday at 3 o'clock, and will last each day until Saturday.

A flight over the city will take place tomorrow if the weather is favorable. Large crowds are expected from the surrounding towns and country.

LEAVYS WILL ADMIT TECHNICAL VIOLATION

Of Postal Laws, but Protest There Has Been No Willful Misuse of the Mails.

Savannah, Ga., March 21.—(Special.) C. H. Leavy, who, with his father, L. J. Leavy, proprietors of The Brunswick News, had been indicted by the United States grand jury for using the columns of that paper for printing information concerning an alleged lottery, was in conference with attorneys for the government today relative to arranging bond.

He was allowed to return to Brunswick on his own recognizance with the understanding that he will send bond later for both himself and his father.

"We are willing," said Mr. Levy, "to plead guilty to a technical violation of the law, but there has been no wilful violation on our part. We have been in the publishing business for eighteen years and this is the first time we have had occasion to get into court."

As Quickly As Water Dissolves Sugar

About the Time It Takes for a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to Work on the Food and Bring Relief.

TRIAL PACKAGE SENT FREE.

There is no long wait between the time you take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and the feeling of relief it will bring to an overloaded stomach. It gets busy in a jiffy and quickly sets things to rights in that tired and disordered stomach. It goes right at the work of digesting the food it finds lodged there and in no time at all has things on the move—the gases cease forming, the breath is sweetened, the coating on the tongue disappears and you are no longer conscious that you even have a stomach.

That is one of the chief recommendations for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets—that they don't take forever to accomplish the purpose for which you need them. It is just as if you put an extra stomach or two to work when yours needed help. You can't continually overload your stomach and expect it to always smile. It is going to get rebellious and sulky after awhile and refuse to go on being driven to do double work. You must rest it occasionally—not by starving and thereby weakening yourself physically—but by using a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to do the work of digesting your food.

These tablets contain all the active elements of the natural stomach juices and will alone and unaided digest food just the same as the gastric juices. And nothing could be more harmless than these tablets. They do not affect the system in any way—do not cure any ailment except as they digest food. Use them freely.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists everywhere. Price, 50 cents per box. A trial package will be sent if you will write F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

For the Proposed Highway From Atlanta to Jacksonville.

Tifton, Ga., March 21.—(Special.)—An enthusiastic meeting of the counties and towns along the central route of the proposed Atlanta-Jacksonville highway, filled the Tifton Chamber of Commerce rooms this afternoon, pursuant to call issued from Tifton last week. The counties represented were Dooly, Turner, Tift, Berrien and Lowndes, in Georgia, and Hamilton county, Florida. Letters were read promising the hearty co-operation of Crisp county, Georgia, and Columbia and Baker counties in Florida.

Mayor C. L. Adams, of Jasper, Fla., was made temporary chairman, and Harry Leyton, of Tifton, secretary.

Under resolutions offered by Dr. R. C. Woodard, of Adel, a permanent organization was formed, to be known as the Central Route Association. H. H. Tift was elected president, and Harry Leyton, secretary.

Resolutions were offered by Harry Burns, and unanimously adopted, pledging the co-operation of the towns and counties.

Pledge Splendid Highway.

A large and enthusiastic gathering of delegates and citizens of Pulaski, Wilcox, Ben Hill, Irwin, Coffee, Ware and Charlton counties in favor of good roads, more particularly in favor of locating the New York-Atlanta National Highway through these counties, was called to order at 1:30 this afternoon by Hon. W. R. Bowen, at the courthouse in Fitzgerald.

A permanent organization called the Atlanta and Jacksonville Highway Association was effected and W. R. Bowen elected president, and J. E. Moyer, secretary, with a sub-committee of three from each county beside the county commissioners of the county, to effect a permanent county organization.

Telegrams of hearty co-operation were read from Charlton county and Hawkinsville.

The station, when completed, will be modern in every respect, having every means of convenience, and will be one of the finest stations on the West Point road between Atlanta and Montgomery. The railroad is also building the new express office near the station.

The city is making plans to pave the street leading to the new station, and when it is finished will be a credit to any city twice the size of LaGrange.

SPRING STREET BRIDGE OFFERED CITY OF MACON

Probable City Will Accept So That North Highlands Can Get Water Mains.

Macon, Ga., March 21.—(Special.)—The Spring street bridge across the Ocmulgee river, connecting the city proper with North Highlands, which is also a part of the official municipality, has been offered to the city council by the county commissioners, by whom it is now owned.

If the offer is accepted by the city it will mean that water will be furnished the citizens of North Highlands, as the county commissioners refuse to allow the placing of water mains on the bridge as long as the structure is in their possession on account of the extra expense that would thereby be entailed. It is likely that the city will accept the offer.

CROWDS GREETING AGRICULTURAL TRAIN ON TOUR OF STATE

Tallapoosa, Ga., March 21.—(Special.) The magnificent belt of Georgia extending from Atlanta to the Alabama line, along the Southern railway, was visited Tuesday by the agricultural educational special train, which the State College of Agriculture is operating through the co-operation of the railroads of the state. Splendid weather was encountered and large and enthusiastic crowds greeted the train at Powder Springs, Douglasville, Villa Rica and Tallapoosa.

The farmers of western Georgia are keenly alive to the necessity of improved methods of agriculture, and listened with the greatest interest to the experts accompanying the train.

Cobb, Douglas, Carroll and Haralson made a magnificent response to this effort of the State College and the railroads to bring the benefits of agricultural education to the people.

Despite the early hour, over a thousand had gathered at Powder Springs. At Douglasville between 3,000 and 4,000 saw the train, while the crowds at Villa Rica and Tallapoosa were fully two and three thousand.

Principal C. H. Hunt, of the Seventh District Agricultural School, made the welcome address at Powder Springs. At Douglasville the party on the train was presented by C. H. McLarty, ex-mayor, and a prominent and successful chicken fancier. Colonel E. T. Steed, mayor of Villa Rica, gave welcome to his city.

Tallapoosa's Welcome.

At Tallapoosa, which was reached after 4 o'clock, the local reception committee consisted of Representative W. W. Summerlin, J. M. McBride, P. W. Bonner, J. A. Cantrell, C. H. Johnson, R. G. Kilgore, C. A. Pierce and D. L. Terrell, who insisted that the men on the train take all the time in order that all might have an opportunity to hear—as many farmers had come many miles to see the train.

Hon. T. G. Hudson, commissioner of agriculture, and Professor J. E. Hite, head of the extension department of the State College, declare the day to have been one of the most successful since the train began the long run, the last lap of which it is now making.

Superintendent J. H. Stanfiel, of the Birmingham division of the Southern railway, Trainmaster D. I. Cox, Roadmaster A. P. New, and Conductor F. A. Cox joined the train at Austell and had charge of it on the trip west of that point. O. A. Stephens, of the land and industrial department of the Southern, is aiding the college officials in taking care of the crowds.

The train finished its tour of the Southern on returning to Atlanta Tuesday night. At Douglasville the train party was delighted to find a splendid display of poultry and milch cattle made by local owners. The ladies of Douglasville entertained the party with a delightful dinner, which was greatly appreciated.

THE Laundry Bag says:

"Two collars wandered into my place one day last week.

"One was cracked and broken at the ends. The other wasn't.

"Said the latter: 'What happened to you?'

"'Usual thing,' answered the broken one; 'and this is only my second trip to the laundry!'

"'Great collar buttons!' exclaimed the other; 'this is my ninth, and look at me. No cracks. No broken ends. I tell you, you started wrong. Now, I was made especially to stand the racket—that's why I, and all other Corliss-Coon Collars, can beat you all out in the number of trips to the laundry.'"

GEORGIANS IN MEXICO UNDER SURVEILLANCE

Two Weeks Since Thomasville Man Has Heard From His Daughter.

Thomasville, Ga., March 21.—(Special.)—R. F. Whiddon, of this city, whose daughter, Mrs. Max Wright, has been sending him interesting letters of conditions in Mexico, where she is making her home, is growing uneasy at his failure to hear from Mrs. Wright last week.

Mr. Whiddon says that it is his daughter's regular custom to write him every week, and as it has been ten days or more since the receipt of her last letter, he can't help feeling worried at the non-arrival of her accustomed letter, which should have come last week, especially as she knew that under existing circumstances he would naturally be anxious about her.

Another fact which makes Mr. Whiddon doubly uneasy is that in Mrs. Wright's last letter she said that her brother, Henry Whiddon, would send her father a letter the next day, but his letter has never come. Mr. Whiddon is afraid that the Mexican government is suppressing all private correspondence for fear that too much may get out in regard to existing conditions there, and in that case he may not be able to hear from his daughter as long as the present state of affairs keep up.

FRENCH COUNT LOSES OUT

Lewkowics Must Refund $750 to Manager Berger.

Waycross, Ga., March 21.—(Special.) Manager J. S. Berger was awarded a verdict of $750 in city court last night after one of the most unique cases ever tried in city court. He was suing Ladis Lewkowics, a French aviator, for $5,000, claiming this was due him for advance salary and expenses as well as damages for failure to hold aviation meetings booked.

Mayor John M. Cox, Aldermen James Sinclair, Fred Brewer, gang foremen, aeroplane mechanicians, and others testified. Lewkowicz contended that instead of owing Berger anything Berger was in debt to him.

HEARING OF M'LEOD CASE.

Governor-Elect Smith to Represent Plaintiff.

Thomasville, Ga., March 21.—(Special.)—Thomasville city court convened here this morning, Judge Hammond presiding, and the criminal docket was taken up. There is little of special interest in the criminal cases, but in the civil branch of the court there bids fair to be some hard fought contests.

There are quite a number of damage suits to come up, the most important that of McLeod v. the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, for which the court of appeals has granted a new trial. This is the suit in which the plaintiff was awarded $28,000 damages at its trial here last year. Governor-elect Hoke Smith is the principal attorney for the plaintiff and arrived in Thomasville today to be in the case.

AFTER VISIT OF STORK SHE WENT TO POLICE

And Presented the Present That Had Been Made to Her.

Chicago, March 21.—Mrs. Sarah Bugues, 20 years old, walked into the Beering street police station here today within an hour after the stork had visited her, as she walked through an alley, and presenting her child to the startled eyes of the police sergeant, asked to be cared for. She was taken to the county hospital.

Mrs. Bugues, who said her home was in Sullivan, Ind., but that she had been working in a restaurant here, at first told the police the child was three days of age, but later, unwrapping it from the towel and shawl which covered it, she admitted the baby was less than an hour old. County hospital nurses said later neither the mother nor the daughter would suffer from their harsh experience.

Negro Killed by Train.

Locust Grove, Ga., March 21.—(Special.)—Grip Barber, an old negro who lives on the farm of Andy Combs, Jr., was hit by the southbound mail this morning and instantly killed. His body was mangled beyond recognition. Mr. Combs had sent him to the pasture to feed the stock. Just in front of the house is a crossing, and a few yards above the crossing the track bends rather suddenly. The negro failed to hear the train approaching. He looked around as he came on the track, but the train was too near to dodge. Grip was a faithful darkey of the ante-bellum type. He had scores of friends among the white people of this section.

Two Kinds of Medical Ethics

THERE are some things the so-called ethical doctors will do which I WON'T do. For that reason there are two kinds of ethics—mine and the other kind. I believe in newspaper advertising, and I cannot see why I have not as much right to tell people what I can and will do as any other advertiser. Because of this there are other members of the profession who are always ready to say unkind things about me. The advertising I do is HONEST advertising and TRUTHFUL, and I PAY for it. I could get advertising by joining every society in sight and keeping the newspapers posted about my comings and goings and activities here and there, without paying for it. I prefer the other kind. The thing I WON'T do, however, is to split my fees with another. A gentleman wrote me a few days ago and after saying many complimentary things about me and my ability, pointed out that he needed treatment and asked whether or not I would treat him in return for sending me patients. I thanked him for his words of encouragement, but was forced to decline his proposition. In this connection, I said in my letter: "It seems perfectly legitimate for a business man to pay a commission to anyone who sends him business. But to a doctor this looks differently. I consider those surgeons who divide their fees with doctors throughout the country sending them cases as grafters pure and simple. This probably is different from what the average doctor thinks about the matter and different from the opinion the public holds. But I have my own ideas about the ethics of my profession. Some things which the mass of the profession think are strictly ethical I look upon as being dishonest."

Atlanta, Ga.

Maybe my ideas are too old-fashioned for this age of commercialism, but I have practiced and lived up to the principles I think right for so long that I am too old to change even if I wanted to. And I don't. I believe in honest and straightforward business methods and conscientious treatment for my patients. I think my thirty-four years of study and research along original lines make me thoroughly competent to treat diseases of men, nervous disorders and chronic diseases. I know them and I know how to treat them successfully. I am at my office from 8 to 7; Sundays and holidays, 10 to 1. My monographs are instructive and free by mail in plain, sealed wrapper.

IMPROVING THE MAIL SERVICE.

For the announced purpose of improving the local mail service in several large cities, the postmaster general has summoned the postmasters of those cities to Washington to discuss the inauguration of a new system of mail delivery "successfully tried in Atlanta and other places."

This conference will no doubt result in good to the cities affected. It is all right in its way, but there is another reform more urgently needed. It also has a direct bearing upon the improvement of city delivery.

It is the correction of the utter demoralization in the railway mail service. Never before has this service been so badly crippled, and the fault is not with the railway postal clerks.

Delay in the transmission of mail in railrway postoffices is constantly causing embarrassment and loss to business. The demand for speedy improvement has become insistent. Business men everywhere are clamoring for relief.

The mail is not being properly worked-up on the railway postal cars. The failure is due to the inauguration of a system of ill-considered economy, and cannot properly be laid at the door of the overworked clerks.

In the effort to save five or ten million dollars a year, the postoffice department is crippling and rendering less efficient a service for which the people are paying $243,000,000.

In the railway postal service Foucheism is bearing its finest fruits of dissatisfaction and intimidation. The men are so hounded by the presence of inspectors, who keep them under constant surveillance, that their efficiency is seriously impaired.

The work of the postal clerks has been greatly increased under the plan of false economy recently put into effect.

This added work, made more arduous by the disturbing presence of postal inspectors, has resulted in crippling the service to an immeasurable extent. The men themselves are enraged, though they do not dare to talk, and wholesale strikes of postal employees in the west have been narrowly averted.

Though the first and most violent reaction against this false economy began in the west, dissatisfaction is general. Business and social intercourse is everywhere being affected and the public is being aroused to protest.

Take a concrete illustration: A railway postal car bound from Chicago to Jacksonville departs with a vast volume of mail for Tennessee, Georgia and Florida points. The volume is increased all along the line.

It is the duty of the postal clerks to sort this mail, fling it into the proper pouches and be prepared to throw off the mail sacks at the proper stations and junction points.

When the work becomes so heavy as to swamp them, as is the case today on practically every railway postoffice car, mail is carried by its proper destination.

That means delay and confusion, important communications go astray, the individual clerk is demerited, and bad feeling is engendered all around.

That is the practical working of a system which aims at ECONOMY, rather than efficient SERVICE.

How long is it to continue? Only as long as congress permits it, and one of the most pressing duties of that body when it meets will be to investigate the cause of the trouble and put the blame where it belongs.

SUCCESS OF OPERA SEASON ASSURED.

The first day's sale of tickets for the Atlanta season of Metropolitan Grand Opera, which totalled $25,000, assures the unqualified success of Atlanta's ambitious undertaking, and gives promise that the enthusiasm and attendance of last year will be increased.

Furthermore, the world's records for one day's subscription sales has been broken.

The news of this remarkable accomplishment has been flashed all over the world, wherever grand opera is appreciated or grand opera stars are known.

The showing is one to cause intense gratification to every Atlantan. What cities with many times more population have failed to accomplish, Atlanta encompassed easily a year ago, and promises to surpass this year.

Nowhere else in the world is grand opera presented on the scale of magnificence reached in America.

The Metropolitan Grand Opera performances are the last words in artistic perfection. For them the highest priced singers in the world, supported by a chorus of exceptional strength, and accompanied by an orchestra without a superior, have been secured.

The wealthy New Yorkers who have financed the undertaking asked but one thing—the best the world afforded in the realm of music. And they got it.

The performances at the Metropolitan have made all Europe envious. Neither Berlin, Vienna nor Paris ever enjoyed grand opera presented with such a wealth of setting, or heard such a collection of artists in a single season.

The scenes of a year ago, when 8,000 people crowded the Atlanta Auditorium to the topmost tier of the gallery, are to be reenacted.

The first night's opera will be "The Girl of the Golden West," by Puccini, which created such a furore upon its initial presentation at the Metropolitan a few months ago. This will be followed by Humperdinck's beautiful new opera, "Koenigskinder." The same principals, the same chorus and the same orchestra heard in these notable productions in New York, will be heard here. "Trovatore" and "Gioconda" follow.

The distinct successes of the whole New York season will be crowded into the three days' season in Atlanta.

Manager Gatti-Casazza, in a telegram expressing his pleasure and delight at the unparalleled rush for season tickets in Atlanta, said: "The Metropolitan bill for Atlanta is the strongest grand opera program ever offered anywhere in a single week."

It is no wonder the music lovers of the entire south have signified their intention to come to Atlanta and enjoy the treat of the present season.

THE TEXAS TO THE JUNK HEAP.

In the upper Chesapeake bay the battleship Texas, which cost $5,000,000 a few years ago, is being made the target for heavy projectiles from the battleship New Hampshire.

It was a test greatly needed, according to naval officials, to demonstrate the effect of armor-piercing shells on the intricate mechanism of a battleship.

Disavowing any attempt to criticise this detail of naval development, the incident serves to direct attention to the tremendous waste involved in naval expansion.

The nation spends $10,000,000 on two battleships which, in a decade, are sent to the junk heap. Today the size of Dreadnaughts has been increased to 25,000 and 30,000 tons, costing from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000. Before the next decade, bombs from air ships may, in their turn, be used to test the resisting power of these new engines of destruction.

With all the world clamoring for more friendly international relations, the stupendous annual expenditure for armaments continues.

The most civilized nations are the ones taking the lead in this amazing competition.

America is spending on its army, navy and pension list more than half of its annual revenues. Great Britain is spending $312,000,000 yearly on the maintenance of its army and navy; Germany, $216,000,000; France $222,000,000, and Russia $285,000,000.

This competition constantly lays fresh burdens upon the backs of groaning taxpayers. It diverts from works of construction money that might be used to benefit agriculture, science and industry.

Suppose the cost of one $10,000,000 battleship annually should be diverted to the construction of good roads. At an average cost of $5,000 per mile, a splendid highway could be built from Atlanta to New York and from New York to Chicago, a distance of a little less than 2,000 miles.

The prospect of such internal improvements opens up possibilities of development that stagger the imagination.

Granted that it is necessary to build battleships. If at least a part of the amount of money so expended should be put into good roads, the vastly greater wealth that would follow would place the nation in better position, through its increased resources, to meet the demands of future wars.

Good roads help everybody; stimulate all industry; weld the country closer together; and, in times of necessity, would expedite the movement of troops.

A policy that at least balances appropriations for war with appropriations for peace would meet wide approval.

SOUTH CAROLINA'S HUMOROUS EXECUTIVE.

The governor of South Carolina is a humorist. He has given many evidences of this peculiar gift since assuming office. Some of his humor is entirely beyond the reach of his doting constituents, and leaves them puzzled.

One of the perfectly killing practical jokes of the South Carolina executive was to fire the commission charged with winding up the affairs of the old state dispensary.

Not satisfied with the joke itself, he wrote a letter to accompany it; a kind of illustrated diagram, as it were. In it he facetiously referred to the five gentlemen, who are said to be among the most capable and honest citizens of the state, as incapable of responsibility, and charged them with neglect of duty.

It was a great joke. Ha! ha! The legislature had appointed a committee to investigate the commission. "They are mine enemies," said the governor. "Do you think I will approve the creation of such a body to investigate the commission and myself? Not by a jug full."

So the dispensary commission was booted out of office without a hearing. The only explanation given was that they had turned over their work to a firm of Atlanta lawyers—proof positive of their incapacity, notwithstanding the fact that the Atlanta firm gave the state magnificent results.

It was almost as keen and witty as the reply of the governor, transmitted through his secretary, to the Atlanta artist commissioned to paint a portrait of Langdon Cheves, of South Carolina, who was speaker of the national house of representatives shortly after the war of 1812, and who died in Columbia, S. C., in 1857.

In response to the inquiry about a picture of Cheves or any of his living relatives, the secretary to the governor sent this startling reply: "Governor Blease says he does not know the man you inquire about or where he is now at."

There is nothing strange about that. Ignorance of the ex-speaker's present whereabouts is excusable. Of course, it was just one of the governor's little jokes.

At Peace Beneath the Friendly Trees.

At peace beneath the friendly trees in groves, or gardens bright;
And not a war-blast in the breeze, sweet-singing in the light.

Oh, let 'em fight
The world's just laughin' in the light!

A bird's note thrills the blossoms, an' music clear an' sweet—
It sets the roses dreamin' of Love's returnin' feet.

Far is the flight
From War's dim night,—
A green world laughin' in the light!

"Were you speeding?"

"I was not. The Washington Limited could have beat me."

"But you are charged with forty miles an hour?"

"That record is only 'killing time.' The machine I have is an 80-mile one, and I was merely trying to show off. What's the use in having a machine if folks can't see and admire it? Had I let her out for what she was worth, only a flash in the atmosphere would have been visible, and Professor Lowell might have recorded another signal from Mars. I move that the case be continued until you can hope to catch a glimpse of that glorious machine in a race with a flash of lightning!"

Shout your best on the hilltops high—
There, where the cold stars glisten;
It's just no more than the night-wind's cry,
An' the world don't stop to listen.

But 'twill see you stand
In the glory-place,
Where it's "Show your hand,
Or hide your face!"

MILITIA PAYS COURTESY TO SAMUEL P. GOMPERS

Drill Will Be Held in Streets So as Not to Disturb Speech.

A distinct courtesy is being paid to Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, who is to speak in Atlanta Monday evening at Taft hall, in the Auditorium, by the military of Atlanta.

Arrangements had been made for the address of Mr. Gompers, to be delivered in Taft hall, before it was learned that Monday was the regular drill night for a large number of the men who are members of the Fifth regiment. With a small army of men going through the manual of arms and walking overhead, there would have been little chance for any speaker to be heard below. When this was learned, friends of Mr. Gompers visited Colonel E. E. Pomeroy. He immediately announced that the men would drill in the streets that evening, so as to insure perfect order during the address.

The visit of Mr. Gompers is primarily for the purpose of arranging for the coming annual convention that will be held in Atlanta.

HEAVY FINES IMPOSED FOR SPEEDING AUTOS

Recorder Says Fines Will Continue as Long as Law Is Violated.

Recorder Broyles imposed several heavy fines yesterday morning for violations of the auto road laws, and he says he is going to keep on imposing such fines just as long as the law is violated.

John Heflin was fined $25.75 for speeding his auto on Auburn avenue.

G. T. Finley was fined $15.75 for speeding a taxicab on Marietta street.

Frank Turnipseed speeded his motorcycle on Edgewood avenue and was fined $15.75.

For speeding his auto on Stewart avenue Dave Schane was fined $25.75.

L. E. Gloebler for speeding his auto on Peachtree street was fined $15.75

V. R. Smith, in the afternoon, plead guilty to the charge of exceeding the speed limit near Forsyth street and Trinity avenue, and was fined $15 and costs by Judge Broyles.

"I would just like to say, judge," said the defendant, "that I never went doyn Forsyth street in my life at 8 miles an hour, and very few people in the city ever did. It is almost impossible to run 8 miles an hour in an automobile."

Charles Gibbs, of 159 Harris street, was also fined $25 for speeding on a crowded street near Peachtree and Forrest avenue, Saturday.

SAYS CASE OF STRIPLING IS A CASE FOR CLEMENCY

By Dr. John E. White.

DR. JOHN E. WHITE,
Pastor of the Second Baptist church, who disagrees with Dr. Daniel, of the First Baptist, and says Stripling should be pardoned.

I believe that the case of Edgar Stripling is a case for pardon. I have been asked to state through The Constitution my reasons for that conviction. I have had good opportunity during nearly twelve years hard by the capitol for cultivating prudence and reluctance with reference to appeals for pardon. Only once before in all this time have I lent personal assistance to secure the exercise of the pardoning power. My approach, therefore, to the Stripling case is not impulsive or sentimental, nor have I been solicited by anyone interested in Stripling.

William James, the foremost student of human nature America has produced, divides people into two classes designated as the "tender-minded" and the "tough-minded." One of the discriminations of his analysis is that "the tender-minded go by principles" and "the tough-minded go by facts." I think he might have named another very distinct class of men, may their tribe increase, who may be called the "even-minded," because they go both by principles and by facts. They are impulsively and temperamentally sympathetic, but their sympathies are strongly ruled in restraint by thoughtful regard to all the bearings of case. This is the fraternity which I ask the privilege of joining with reference to Stripling.

I beg to say, first of all, that I realize the seriousness of the exercise of the pardoning power in any case. Socrates said to Plato: "Perhaps the gods may forgive sins, but I doubt if they can safely do so." Were it not for a certain climate in the earth, for which I regard Christianity accountable, the Draconion spirit of an implacable attitude with reference to forgiveness and pardon among men would be prevalent in the earth.

A Serious Power.

It is a serious power the state has reposed in the hands of the board of pardons and the governor. In the south the question of law and order is especially important. The exercise of the pardoning power in any case is, therefore a matter for pause. The movements which have been led in Georgia by Judge Hillyer and ex-Governor William J. Northen in behalf of law and order have enlisted every ounce of my sympthy and assistance. If I could regard the pardon of Stripling as in any true sense lawless, or as in any serious way tending to encourage crime, I would not be found advocating it. But I discover that the state of Georgia has provided by law for the exercise of a pardoning power. It is a function of law and order. It is not a perquisite of officials. It is a court of final appeal. Its action either for or against appeals made to it is the normal action of government. This point is important because of an impresion apparently in some minds that the pardoning power is in some way an invasion of the law which affects the dignity of government and respect for the courts. In every case, to pardon a convicted man is certainly to interrupt the sentence inflicted by the courts, but the interruption is a lawful interruption. If there is a peril in such interruption it is one of the intrinsic diffculties of an enlightened government which an unenlightened government would escape.

It is not a question whether the board of pardons will consider applications for pardon; it is distinctly their duty to do so. It is a tribunal appointed by the state for such appeals. It must take up each case presented to it and consider it on its merits. The facts both of the original record and of subsequent development are brought into scrutiny. The facts of subsequent development are especially regarded as weighty and enter largely to determine the merit or lack of merit in the case presented. The time element is, therefore, a considerable factor. The character and the conduct of the criminal applying for pardon are matters of merit and demerit in the case. The exercise of clemency as it affects the public interest and as it affects the life of the criminal, which may become a public asset, are the main points of consideration. It is because I believe that in the balance between any possible public detriment in the pardon of Stripling and the pappable public gain to society by a recognition of the merits of his peculiar case I find my judgment clear.

Public Vengeance.

Let me state certain principles, which I referred to at the outset. I believe profoundly in a Christianized penology. We are slowly but surely merging toward a vastly improved conception of the relation of a Christian state toward the criminal. The old criminology has a lingering power, because it has been institutionalized, but it is a power that is passing as surely as the days pass. This is clear when we observe how far we have already come. The idea of vengeance transferred from the individual to the state was an improvement. The idea of vengeance as having any place in the attitude of a Christian state toward the criminal is the next and certain step of improvement. The state can have no vindictive or revengeful attitude toward the criminal in a civilization in which Christianity prevails. The state restrains and thus punishes the criminal for three ends only:

First—For the reformation and restoration of a brother-man.

Second—For the discouragement of other criminals or others criminally inclined.

Third—For the protection of society immediately from the criminal himself.

Opposed to these principles I am quite aware that the old criminology stands insistent on the retributive relation of the state with the idea of revenge latent in law as a public wrath against the criminal and as a sort of compensation to individuals who have refrained from taking private vengeance under the implied agreement that the state would take vengeance for them. I cannot as a Christian citizen take my stand with the old criminology. I cannot agree that the old law, "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," though now regarded as a violation of a law of Christ for individuals, is any less the violation of that law of Christ when exercised by a company of individuals, though it be as large as a mob or as big as a nation. Here, for myself, at least, I find bedrock for my conscience, and what is more, I know I have found it.

Facts Appeal to Public.

Now, in the case of Stripling, the following facts make an instantaneous appeal to the public sense of what is profoundly righteous as well as what is pre-eminently expedient. He committed a crime, and it is a crime abhorrent to all citizens. It was a crime committed in a vendetta of violent anger of man against man and neighbor against neighbor. In my opinion none of the facts alleged could justify the crime, though I am quite aware that in Georgia there is a sentiment inclined to justify assassination under certain circumstances. With public sentiment in his community divided upon the question of his justification and especially with his advisors and sympathizers encouraging his false sense of justification the criminal escaped. Up to this point nothing has occurred to give that man any standing in the leniency of my judgment. But the subsequent facts with fourteen years intervening, present the case with a changed aspect unless I take the view which some do take, that the spirit of government and law is implacable, unappeasable and unchangeable. I cannot take that view. I believe that there is atonement for crime before the tribunal of moral judgment. I believe that the fourteen years, not merely of decent life, which Stripling lived in Danville, but fourteen years of devotion amounting to a consecration of life to the very system of law and order which he had himself so sinned against, was the man's atonement to society.

The information which has come to me in the newspapers and from private advices from the moral and religious leaders of Danville, Va., relate how the man almost immediately upon his settlement in that community became an incarnation of protest for the law. It was because of this fact he was chosen to be the candidate, though his residence in Danville had been brief, of that element in the community which was seeking to reform the laxity of its law officers. He was elected on that platform and re-elected. His pastor, Rev. C. A. Upchurch, affirms the unquestioned consistency of Stripling's intense personal and public life in every regard of which he could be judged by his fellowmen, who saw him during these years. What passed in his mind and what passed in his heart in that remarkable and extended experience which exchanged the old name for a new name, the old relation to society for the new relation to society, no man knows. "The fruits," at least, "meet for repentance" are there in that record.

The Other Side.

If I am asked to consider the other side, the side of the widow whose husband was killed, my answer is, I do consider it. And if I could consider it in some way helpfully, those who suffered such horror or loss would have my regard and sympathy to the utmost, But I cannot consider the appeal of the letter in the papers which bears the ear-marks, not of a woman, but of a skillful lawyer, appealing to the latent spirit of revenge which exists in human nature, as any appeal to me. As I read it, I paused and held the whole case before me. The cry of the vendetta to the state for vengeance and the appeal of the man who has given every day of his life in which opportunity occurred throughout fourteen years to the identification of himself with the dignity and honor of the law of the state and with all those who stand for that, were mingled in my ears. I considered the state as the arbiter between them. My reasoned judgment as well as my instinctive Christian sense gave the answer, which is expressed in the caption—

"The case of Stripling is a case for pardon." His freedom will open no floodgate, nor yet a trickling stream of crime. In view of the facts it could not be regarded as one of the class of pardons which puts premium on lawlessness. Its outstanding fact would present no phase of easy escape for criminals, but the phase of a changed life, the achievement of a new career of which the characteristic was devotion to law and order almost romantic And for the man himself and his large family, to refasten a life sentence in the Georgia convict camps is almost to curse a soul back, that had climbed up to public virtue and not in any easy repentence of the lips, but by long years of living for the very law that would so curse him.

COMMENDS ORDINANCE TO STOP BLIND TIGERS

Editor Constitution: I want to commend most heartily Hon. John E. McClelland's proposed ordinance for the suppression of blind tigers in Atlanta. His ordinance introduced in the council on Monday is a definite and business-like measure against this evil.

The city has been put to much trouble and expense in dealing with this traffic, and still it is easy for men to violate and escape the law. Now, Councilman McClelland offers a definite, wise and reasonable ordinance, which promises to meet the situation successfully. There seems to be no reason why it should not become an ordinance, and every reason why it should. This is what our city needs and wants. Let it be passed in a manly way, and let Atlanta and all the world know that the highest interests of our great and growing city are in safe hands.

GREAT WHITE WAY MAN COMES BACK TO ATLANTA

Working on the White Light System for Other Streets.

George A. Miller, who has become known as the "Great White Way man," because of his connection with the installation of the new system of street lighting, is back in the city from Birmingham, where he has been arranging to put in a white way in the business district of that city.

There is some further work yet to be done in Atlanta. Broad street, from Marietta to Peachtree, has already been arranged for, and the lights are now being installed. A portion of Forsyth street has been passed up, and the lights will soon be placed there. There has been a hitch in the plans to put the lights on Pryor street from Peachtree to the union depot, but it is believed this will soon be worked out and the new lights installed.

WAR ON FLIES HAS NOT ENDED

Screen Ordinance Will Be at Once Revised.

Alderman Van Dyke Will Have Law Redrafted by City Attorney---Says Filibustering Frills Will Be Eliminated---How the New Ordinance Will Read.

The postponement by council of action on the screen or fly ordinance does not imply by any means that the ordinance is dead, according to a statement made by Alderman A. H. Van Dyke, ex-officio member of the board of health, who first began the movement to protect foodstuffs in retail stores from flies during the summer months.

Alderman Van Dyke says that the work of Councilman Harrison in loading down the screen ordinance with unnecessary amendments has only caused a short delay.

The members of the board of health and the health officer state that there has not been in many years a more important move made for the health of city than the effort that is now under way to keep flies from swarming over the food which the people have to eat. Every member of the board feels that as heads of the health department they owe it to the people to adopt every means looking to healthful conditions, and they say they feel sure that any step which will prevent flies from contaminating foodstuffs will be a great move looking toward the elimination of disease germs.

Dr. J. P. Kennedy, health officer, is in thorough sympathy with the screen ordinance, and says that to keep the food people eat from filthy flies is a long step in the direction of health.

Next Step to Be Taken.

Alderman Van Dyke, in speaking of what will next be done toward getting the screen ordinance made into a city law, said:

"The screen ordinance is going to be passed by council. The next time it is presented it will not be loaded down with filibustering amendments. I intend to take the ordinance to the city attorney and have him shape it so it will protect the people from food that has been contaminated by flies, and which at the same time will work no unnecessary hardship on anybody. I believe that every retail store selling foodstuffs should be kept free from flies, and, therefore, should be screened. I am positive that no foodstuffs should be placed in front of stores where they can be covered with dust from dirty streets and be swarmed over by flies. Therefore, in the ordinance which the city attorney will draft there will be provisions for the screening of all retail groceries, meat markets, bakeries and peddling wagons that sell fruits and vegetables. The ordinance will also prohibit absolutely the display of any foodstuffs in front of stores. I do not think it is necessary to have any wholesale stores screened.

"With the assistance of the city attorney I shall endeavor to have drafted an ordinance that, while protecting the health of the people, will be as far as possible not objectionable to those concerned. The ordinance will be ready for the board of health to act upon at its next meeting. It will, I am sure, be approved by the board and be sent to council for adoption. Any further efforts to make useless changes and to tack on superfluous amendments will be discountenanced. The health department regards the question of keeping flies from foodstuffs too important and too serious to be trifled with."

FACTS IN STRIPLING CASE TOLD BY CORNETT KINSMAN

Editor Constitution: In the interest of fair play and just simply to inform the public on some statements that Stripling has made. I, one of the nearest of kin to the deceased Cornett, with no undue malice nor rankling animosity against Stripling, have a few corrections to make in Stripling's many statements.

After the lapse of fourteen years, I would have had nothing to say as to the fate of Stripling, being perfectly willing to abide the just decision of the prison commission, but in his many statements Stripling has grossly misrepresented facts, a few of which I wish to correct, and allow me to say that I will state nothing but what I have the proof to offer, either sworn testimony or proper affidavits.

Now, a few corrections. Stripling's first statement when he surrendered at Columbus was that he killed Cornett because he (Cornett) had insulted his sister. Now, his sister at that time was married to a man who was capable and willing to defend the honor of his wife. Since then he has shifted base and said that he killed Cornett because of an insult offered his wife. Now, as to this it is a matter of evidence after Stripling's wife. Now, in Sunday's Constitution he says to the public that he killed Cornett because of an insult to Huff's wife, who is also Stripling's sister. Now, as to the whole insult proposition, there is no evidence whatever from any quarter that Cornett ever insulted any relative of Stripling, only Stripling's statement.

Stripling stated that for fear of his life, and because of threats from Cornett, he was forced to lay out two days and nights. Stripling did lay out, it is true, but not in the manner he would have you believe. Very far from fearing the very presence of Cornett, Stripling was seen associating with Cornett on the streets of Chipley on the afternoon before the killing that night, and it can be proven by competent witnesses that Cornett even assisted Stripling to place a body on a two-horse wagon at Champion's shop.

Stripling further states that the immediate cause of his killing Cornett was that he had to pass Cornett's house in going home from Chipley, and saw Cornett pass the window as if reaching up for something, and he (Stripling) became so enraged that he rushed up and shot him through the window. Now, in the first place, Stripling and Cornett lived on totally different roads leading to Chipley, and it was not only unnecessary to pass Cornett's home, but considerably out of his way. Furthermore, the night Cornett was killed he never reached home until about midnight, having talked to one good witness as late as 11:30 o'clock, in whose company he was at the home of a sick relative.

Now, when this unfortunate and much-abused Cornett was found dead in his house on Sunday morning, a thorough search failed to reveal shotgun, pistol or any other firearms; furthermore, one of the jurors who tried Stripling for his life told me—and I can give his name—that the jury did not want to recommend clemency for Stripling, but did for Huff, but that Stripling and Huff were tried jointly and the jury did not know that they could recommend one man to mercy and not the other.

Now, I can prove, and dare Stripling to challenge me to do so, that he (Stripling) was a ringleader in the mobbing of two negroes in Columbus. Even, taking one from court where he was being tried.

Now, these are a few of the facts this righteous, repentant man has wilfully distorted, in an endeavor to bolster his side of the case. If the public will inform themselves of the true facts in the case, I am perfectly willing to leave the matter at the bar of public sentiment.

If this man has reformed, and is leading a true religious life, as he says he is, he must, like Judas Iscariot, first leave his Lord before he can so knowing, maliciously and desperately distort the facts as he has done. Respectfully,

S. R. CORNETT,
Chipley, Ga., March 20, 1911.

SERIOUS BRICK FAMINE TROUBLING ATLANTA

Companies Unable to Fill Orders---Two Million Brick Needed.

The enormous amount of building going on in the city at the present time, probably the greatest in the history of Atlanta, is regarded as the cause of a brick famine which is a source of anxiety to all contractors.

There is need just now for many thousands of brick, the total number possibly reaching two million. One company has called up every brick yard within 200 miles, and has been able to get only a part of what is needed to fill its wants. The brick companies of the city and vicinity are selling their products by the day, and have not a bit of reserve stock on hand.

NO PERSECUTION BY PEA-THROWING

Recorder Broyles Talks About an Attack Made on Autos.

"The auto men shall not be persecuted. They are being prosecuted for violating the road laws and are being made to pay the penalty. But persecutions will not be tolerated."

It was the recorder talking.

There were arraigned in the police court yesterday morning Herbert Messery and Neeüen Freeman, two boys, who were charged with attacking passing autos.

The evidence was that the boys stood in the streets and pelted passing autos with peas.

Now, peas are not deadly weapons, but they are unpleasant when tossed recklessly into your face as you dash by in an auto.

"Peas," said the recorder, "are not meant for missiles. We can use them to boil with fat meat, or to make chowder; or we can soak them and put them into our tight shoes."

After his dissertation on peas, the recorder turned the flow of his discourse on autos and the law. He said:

"I think it right to vigorously prosecute autos when the law is violated, but I do not think they should be persecuted. The pea-throwing must stop."

He placed the boys on probation upon their promise to never again be guilty of tossing peas at passing autos.

PREFERS NIGHT IN CELL TO ROOF OF HUSBAND

Although offered a copy of charges last night when arrested for disorderly conduct, Mrs. Lee Mavroodes, 36 years old, of 8 Corput street, refused to take it, saying that she would rather stay in the station house, because her husband beat her when she went home.

"I don't want to go home," she cried, wiping her eyes on the dress of her little baby. "My husband beats me when my brother tells him things, and I am afraid that my brother will kill me if I went home. Let me stay here till I'm tried."

Mrs. Mavroodes is an American, but married a Greek with a fruit stand at 154 Marietta street. She was brought into the station carrying a young baby, and with a pretty little black-haired girl by her side, having been arrested, it is said, at the instance of her brother, Andrew Daniel.

Mavroodes visited his wife some time after her arrest. He stated that her brother claimed she had broken an electric light, at a time when she was not even in the house, and that he was the cause of all the trouble. Mavroodes denies beating his wife.

SATURDAY HALF HOLIDAY MOVEMENT IN GOOD SHAPE

The movement for a Saturday half holiday from April 1 to September 1 is in good shape, Colonel Harry Schlesinger says, and within a few days it is expected to have practically all who usually go into this movement signed up.

"We are hard at work on the Saturday half holiday movement," Colonel Schlesinger said, "and now have signed up about 150 names of the whole-sal[illegible]es, manufacturers, insurance offi[illegible] freight depots, city offices and the[illegible]

"[illegible] city has grown so large that is [illegible]cally impossible to see everyone personally, and if those we have not been able to see will kindly drop us a postal card, signifying their willingness to join in the movement, their names will be promptly added to the list. These responses will help the cause no little."

ATLANTA RETAIL GROCERS FAVOR SCREEN ORDINANCE

President F. E. Kamper and Secretary J. P. Eve, of the Retail Grocers and Butchers' Association, have sent a statement to The Constitution in regard to the attitude of the association toward the fly or screen ordinance. Their statement is as follows:

"In The Constitution of this morning you have an article about the screen ordinance up before council yesterday afternoon. Among other things it is stated that the retail grocers appeared before the board of health with Councilman Harrison and persuaded them to tack onto this ordinance amendments which they knew would not pass, and would act in such a manner as to kill the ordinance, notwithstanding their statements that they were in favor of this ordinance. You also state that the retail grocers egged on the wholesale men in opposition to the ordinance before council. In other words, you have given the impression through your columns that the retail grocers are not sincere in their statements to the public as expressed at the meeting of the board of health.

"The Retail Grocers and Butchers' Association is a body of retail grocers and butchers joined together for mutual protection in credits and collectual protection in betterment of their business, and is in no sense a trust or other combination for the controlling of prices or the purchase of goods.

"When the attention of members of this association was called to the original ordinance we were in hearty accord with the purpose at which the ordinance was aimed. However, the original ordinance was incomplete. It should cover every dealer in food products, whether wholesaler, retailer oe peddler. When these facts were called to the attention of the board of health, they at once saw the wisdom of these suggestions and readily adopted them, presenting to council the original ordinance with amendments.

"The retail grocers were and are sincere in their statements to the board of health, and still desire the passage of the ordinance as amended. There are many members of the Retail Grocers and Butchers' Association who will be put to considerable expense in complying with this law, and they will gladly do so provided the ordinance is passed as amended, otherwise they will fight the passage of the ordinance on the ground of being unjust and discriminating."

DAILY FASHION HINTS

By Marie Montaigne.

Designers of dresses for young girls appear to take into consideration the fact that girls of today are busy young women without any time to waste in putting on clothes that require much time to adjust. The dress illustrated is one of the new spring models for girls of from 14 to 18 years. It is of serge, with skirt and blouse in one piece, and fastened down the front with small, black braid buttons. The neck is cut slightly V shape so that a dainty lace collar is rapidly slipped into place with no loss of valuable moments in looking for and fastening collar pins in a stock. This mode of neck finish also prevents the young girl's throat from losing its roundness and beauty of outline. The throat requires room in which to grow and develop properly just as well as the rest of the body does, and tight collars should never be worn by an undeveloped girl. Although the skirt clings to the figure at the top, it is loosely-fitting and flares quite a good deal at the bottom. Sleeves, too, are cut with regard to the young girl's comfort. They are put into regular armholes and gathered slightly at the top, so that the young person can move her arms with perfect freedom and comfort. Such a dress is the most useful thing that could be tucked into the wardrobe of a girl who attends school or college, or of the girl who must hasten out to an office early in the morning and save herself fret and time by having something ready to slip into and fasten up the front—the easiest mode of fastening ever invented.

On one side of the blouse is a little pocket into which the girl's handkerchief may be tucked all ready to hand. Any girl can afford to purchase such a dress, which costs $15, or to have one made for $6 of serge, or some light wool material suitable for spring. If good lace is not available for collars and cuffs, very fashionable ones are crocheted at home or formed of thin white goods with a narrow frill on the edge.

Fountain Pen

The Only SCIENTIFIC Pen Made

The Spoon Feed gives a uniform flow of ink from the barrel to the point of the pen. It prevents the flood or blot of ink caused by the heat of the hand expanding the air in the barrel. The ink displaced by expansion settles into the Feed Pockets and is resorted back to the reservoir. Overflow is impossible; still, there will always be the correct supply of ink to feed the point just as fast or as slow as your writing requires. The perfection of this exclusive patent makes Waterman's Ideal the universally used writing implement of the present day. There are other flat feeds but not Spoon Feeds.

Bernhardt will arrive over the Southern railway today at 10 o'clock.

So sumptuous is her traveling train that she prefers it to the average American hotel, and while in Atlanta for her engagement at the Orpheum theater tonight, she will have her train parked and remain on it throughout the day. Here she will have the tempting dishes of Henri, her own French chef. Here she has a charming boudoir with flowers and mirrors, which fairly dazzle reporters who go to see and marvel at the vigor and sparkling energy of the unique woman, who for forty years has wielded her dramatic scepter in every clime.

Here in her palatial home on wheels Mme. Bernhardt, it is said, is treated like a queen by her entire entourage. No princess of the realm could travel more sumptuously, or be surrounded by more loving and devoted retainers than is this illustrious artist.

As an instance of how much people love her, it is told that her stage manager, Peron, has been with her thirty-two years; her personal manager, who died on the last tour, Mr. Simonson, no less than twenty-five years; M. Dennenbourg, a faithful member of her company, twenty-four years; while Mme. Boulanger has been with her eighteen years, and several people over ten years each. Her secretary has been with her for twenty years; one of her maids twenty-six years, whole two others have been in her employ for a dozen or more seasons. This is given as a fair example of how Mme. Bernhardt's associates love to be with her, because of her many good qualities, notwithstanding her rigid rule of discipline, both on and off the stage.

Bernhardt appears tonight in two acts from "Jeanne d'Arc," and two from "Camille."

"La Samaritaine" Barred.

New Orleans, March 21.—Madame Sarah Bernhardt, who opens an engagement here next week will not be permitted to present "La Samaritaine" in New Orleans. After hearing protests from the State Federation of Catholic Societies and from Protestant churches, Mayor Behrman issued an order late today instructing the inspector of police to prevent the presentation of the play. The city attorney, I. L. Moore, in an opinion given to the mayor, described "La Samaritaine" as "absolutely shocking to the morals and religious sense of a Christian community."

SENSATION IN COURT IS CREATED BY SEE

Founder of "Absolute Life" Cult Becomes Uncontrollable.

Chicago, March 21.—Evelyn Arthur See, founder of the "absolute life" cult, an exposition of which caused his arrest and that of two of his priestesses—oung girls who made their home with him—created a sensation in the circuit court today by attempting to explain his philosophy and teachings to the court.

He was rebuked, but raising his voice to a scream, had to be quieted by bailiffs. His wife, who is separated from him, had obtained an injunction against his disposing of property and this he sought to have dissolved. When asked about his wife See yelled:

"The man that married that woman is dead and in his place a new spirit was born."

The injunction was dissolved and See, who has been in the county jail on serious charges since January 6, was released on bonds of $1,000.

POLICEMAN'S MURDERER SENTENCED TO GALLOWS

Montgomery Negro Is Found Guilty of Murder in the First Degree.

Montgomery, Ala., March 21.—John Adams, the negro who murdered Patrolman T. W. Berry here on October 5, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury this morning and sentenced to the gallows.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTIST FOUR TIMES INDICTED

Faith Healer Cole Is Accused of Violating the Public Health Laws.

New York, March 21.—Willis Vernon Cole, a faith healer, was indicted today on four counts, including charges of unlawful practice of medicine and violation of the public health laws. The indictment follows Cole's arrest early in February on evidence gathered by two police matrons who represented that Cole charged them $2 a visit for treatment, which, the prosecution claims, could only be given by a practicing physician.

Cole has the support of the prominent Christian Scientists.

New Trial for Lumsden.

Albany, N. Y., March 21.—The court of appeals today granted a new trial in the case of John C. Lumsden, of North Carolina, convicted of killing Harry B. Suydam in New York City on December 19, 1908. Lumsden was sentenced to imprisonment for not less than eighteen years. Suydam was shot during a quarrel and Lumsden pleaded self-defense.

PARDONED GROVES AGAIN IN TROUBLE

Alleged That Another Violation of Prohi Law Caused Arrest.

Macon, Ga., March 21.—(Special.)—W. C. Groves, who was pardoned several weeks ago by Governor Brown from a jail sentence for a violation of the prohibition law, was arrested tonight by Sheriff Hicks, charged with a misdemeanor, which charge is supposed to be a violation of the prohibition law again. The arrest grew out of a raid on the place of L. F. Gore, a saloonist of Fourth and Pine streets, to whose place Groves earlier in the day had sent a few barrels of near beer. Groves' wagon had taken the beer and Groves was indorsed on the notes of Gore for the rent.

Groves was arrested in his home by Sheriff Hicks, but was allowed to come to the sheriff's office alone and make bond, which he did in the sum of $2,500. The bond was signed by Alex Block, a prominent Macon man.

Mr. Groves denies the charges against him in toto, stating that no federal, state or city license stands in his name; that he has no connection with any saloon or whisky business in any shape or manner and that he demands an immediate trial of the charges against him. If any reputable white man will make an affidavit to the charges he says that he stands ready to enter a plea of guilty.

GEORGE GOULD RESIGNS AS M. P. PRESIDENT

The Presidency Was Left Vacant at Request at Mr. Gould.

New York, March 21.—George J. Gould today tendered his resignation as president of the Missouri Pacific at a meeting of the directors of the railway and was elected chairman of the board. The presidency was left vacant at Mr. Gould's request, in the hope of filling it in the near future.

Directors of the Missouri Pacific railway chiefly interested themselves today in the selection of an executive committee which will devote itself in the next five years to raising the necessary millions to rehabilitate the railroad.

E. D. Adams, representative of the Deutsche bank, will be elected to the executive committee, which will consist of the new president, with Mr. Adams, Frederick Gates, Cornelius Vanderbilt, George J. Gould, E. T. Jeffery and Kingdon Gould.

George J. Gould was re-elected president of the Texas and Pacific railway today and his son, Kingdon Gould, was chosen a vice president.

The other officers were re-elected.

BEATEN BYT HUGS AS HE ENTERS HOME

Suddenly attacked by two unknown men who were stooping in the shadow of the banisters on his front porch as he came up the steps, R. Walter Dean, 20 years old, of 495 Hill street, was last night felled by a blow which rendered him unconscious, and seriously beaten by the thugs.

Members of the family, including Mrs. Dean and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Weaver, his father-in-law, with whom he lives, rushed to the assistance of Dean, and the two assailants jumped off the porch, disappearing in the darkness when they heard the noise in the house.

The police were notified by phone from the residence of Joseph Adolphus, and Call Officers Johnson and McWilliams, and several members of the county force made an investigation. Bloodhounds were put on the trail of the criminals, but up to a late hour last night they had not been caught.

Mr. Dean soon recovered from the shock of his assault, and is not seriously injured. He has a painful cut over the left eye, and is bruised in places.

Organization at the Hotel Rector

AN organization of CAPABLE PEOPLE in a hotel is quite as important as a competent organization in a great railroad system.

Every department must have a DISPATCHER, the same as every section of a railroad must have.

There must be a GENERAL MANAGER—the man who has his finger on every branch of the business—who DECIDES QUICKLY any matter of importance. If a switch is left open, there is a wreck on the railroad. It is the same in a hotel.

How can anybody run a hotel without knowing EVERY BRANCH of the business? There is a schedule to follow every minute of the day and night. There must not be any distraction from this constant attention. If there is, SOMETHING GOES WRONG.

The Hotel Rector organization is on the watch EVERY MINUTE—always ready to serve the guests of the hotel, the restaurant or the cafe.

Every fault, if any exists, is instantly corrected. Mr. Rector has the able assistance of Mr. King, for several years manager of the Royal Poinciana, at Palm Beach, and the Hotel Plaza, in New York.

The duty of a hotel to its public is fully recognized by the Rector organization. It has no FALSE NOTIONS about this. It is here for the purpose of WAITING ON ITS PATRONS—giving a service that means their comfort.

The organization KNOWS how to run a hotel—learned how through many years of HARD WORK and EXPERIENCE.

Every member of the organization understands his duty and performs it to the best of his ability. The Hotel Rector is worthy of ALL OF YOU.

It is within two minutes of the Grand Central and five minutes of the new Pennsylvania Station.

PATROLMAN ODOM RESIGNS POSITION

Patrolman M. E. Odom, one of the county police who testified so strongly against Chief Zach Rowan, in the recent investigation of charges preferred against the head of the county police, was yesterday dropped from the county force.

He tendered his resignation to Chief Rowan, it being accepted at once, under the approval of the committee from the board of commissioners, which has direct control of county police affairs.

Chief Rowan declined to discuss the matter other than to say that Odom was no longer a member of the force.

THEATERS

"A Woman's Way."
(At the Grand.)

Emma Bunting and her company of associate players are more than delighted with the reception that Atlanta has given them for the opening performance of their summer stock season at the Grand Opera House, and they have promised that they will do their best to keep the high place they have won in the hearts of the Atlanta theatergoers. The first three performances have crowded the Grand more than any production that has showed there this year, and sale of almost a thousand season reservations seems to show that the Atlanta public is going to stay right with the company every week. "A Woman's Way," this week's attraction, will be shown every night for the rest of the week with a matinee tomorrow and Saturday.

"No Mother to Guide Her."
(At the Lyric.)

Another well pleased audience witnessed "No Mother to Guide Her" last night at the Lyric and from the reception being accorded this melodrama it is quite evident that Atlanta theater goers are still very fond of the sensational in drama. "No Mother to Guide Her" is a melodrama pure and simple, with a good plot, in which the interest is never allowed to flag from the rise of the curtain to the final denouement of the last act. A good company is headed by Miss Donna Lee and a splendid scenic production is offered. The week promises to be a successful one.

"Polly of the Circus."
(At the Orpheum.)

On Wednesday, March 29, for both matinee and evening performance at the Orpheum, Frederic Thompson will present his elaborate scenic production of "Polly of the Circus," which achieved such a marked success in New York last year that it ran the entire year at the Liberty theater.

The play is by Margaret Mayo. One scene shows a circus ring in full tilt with four specialties going on at one time, and the other gives a picture of the circus leaving town in wagon in the moonlight. Mr. Thompson has selected a strong cast of well-known players.

Keith Vaudeville.
(At the Forsyth.)

With the attendance high above the usual great average, the Forsyth is busier this week than ever before in its first year of continued success and triumphs. Little Billie, the tiniest headliner in vaudeville, is a marvel as an entertainer. There have been some excellent singers and dancers at the Forsyth, but this little fellow has eclipsed every success, and is the most popular favorite ever established locally. Nat Haines and Will Vidocq have won the comedy honors of the season with one of the most unique and original comedy talking stunts Atlanta has ever seen, and the person who can't laugh at Nat Haines is a hopeless impossibility.

BUICK "BUG" BEATS AUTO, HORSES, MEN

Burman Triumphs in Feature Race.

Driving Buick "Bug," Burman Defeats Two Horses, Two Foot-Runners and Marquette-Buick---Great Crowd Gathered in Moncrief Park.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 21.—Moncrief Park was scarcely large enough to hold the great gathering that turned out this afternoon to witness the excellent program that had been arranged by Manager Brown. When the time arrived for the starting of the races the stands were packed to their capacity and seats were provided on the ground in front of the grandstand. It was by far the greatest crowd that ever attended a sporting event in this state.

The special feature race was the one in which two foot runners, two horses and two automobiles started. The foot runners went 525 yards, the horses 6 furlongs, the Marquette-Buick automobile 1 mile, and the famous Buick "Bug," driven by "Wild Bob" Burman, went 1 1-16 miles. AT TAMPA.

Tampa, Fla., March 21.—Only two favorites proved successful this afternoon at the West Tampa track, and in consequence the players had a bad day. A poor card, with five selling races and one purse event, did not prove attractive to the race-goers, only a small crowd being present. Sandiver won the feature event with ease. Explicit proved a surprise in the fifth by drawing away in the stretch to score a handy victory. The favorite, Hancock, just lasted for show.

ATTEL-COULON BOUT HAS BEEN CANCELLED

New Orleans, March 21.—Abe Attell has declined to make 116 pounds ringside, and as a result Manager Tortorich, of the West Side Athletic Club, announced today that negotiations for a fight here between Attell and Johnny Coulon for the bantamweight championshop had been practically abandoned. Coulon flatly refused to concede another pound to the featherweight champion, and Attell wired that he would not agree to make less than 118 ringside.

SHAMROCKS TIE WITH REGULARS

Washington Teams Engage in a Hard-Fought Game.

Conroy's Shamrocks and McBride's Regulars played a nine-inning tie at Ponce de Leon Tuesday morning, the score ending 6 to 6.

Fred Bussey twirled for the Regulars, and Walter Johnson hurled for the Shamrocks.

Bussey's offerings were greeted with bingles galore in several innings, the Shamrocks pasting him for eleven bingles, while he walked five and fanned but two.

Johnson had the Regulars on his hip after he opened up in the second inning, and but for poor support he would not have been scored upon after the initial round.

The big fellow gave the crowd of Atlanta fans who were out a sample of what he could really do. In some innings he would cut loose with his speed and curves, and batters like Milan and Schaefer could not even foul one. Eleven regulars were retired on strikes, while he walked but one.

SIGNAL PRACTICE BY THE CRACKERS

Jordan's Crackers did not play a scrub game Tuesday afternoon, but engaged mostly in signal work on the offensive and the defensive, the Colts taking the field, while the Regulars batted, and then the reverse.

Scotty Walker's presence at shortstop made the infield look lots stronger than it has been in days, and every man on the squad worked better as the result.

Otto Jordan strained a tendon in his back in reaching for a ball late in the afternoon, and crumpled up like a leaf. He was all right though in a short while.

Earl Sykes got another one of his three-sackers during batting practice, while Wells chimed in with another one of his home runs, this making the second this lad has had in two days.

Charlie Miller's thumb is coming around right well. He can move it a little now. It should mend rapidly from now on.

Now that Al O'Dell is getting over some of his lameness, the big third-sacker is looking like the excellent ball tosser that he has been touted to be.

The infield of Sykes on first, Jordan on second, Walker on short, and O'Dell is O. K. The Crackers will probably start the season with that line up.

Wells and Ulrich are getting better every day behind the bat, and these two lads can take care of all the Crackers' catching until Charlie Miller gets back into the game.

The pitchers are nursing some sore arms yet, a catch right in the shoulder muscles being the ailment that seems to bother them all, but some of them are in good shape, ready to pitch a game right now.

Moran and Jordan, the two regulars from last year's team are meeting the ball better now. They should both have a better season with the willow this year.

Sykes is bothered with a charley horse on his right leg, and with a bruised hand, but otherwise he is in fairly good condition. He must be a wonder when he gets feeling good, if what he has been doing since he has been here is a sample.

HAROLD JOHNS HERE THURSDAY

Harold Johns, the star southpaw of the Atlanta team, has wired Manager Otto Jordan that he will report for practice on Thursday, leaving his home in Seven Mile, Ohio, this morning.

Johns is coming down to talk things over with Manager Jordan and it is practically a cinch that after the two men talk things over that they will come to terms.

MERCER HOLDS MACON TO SCORE OF 3 TO 2

Macon, Ga., March 21.—(Special.)—Macon defeated Mercer in a close game today, 3 to 2. The collegians were more settled than in Saturday's game and held the professionals to a stand.

RUBE ZELLARS SENDS REGARDS TO FRIENDS

Catcher Fred Ulrich, who is a friend of Rube Zellars, the former Atlanta pitcher, brings word that Rube sends his regards to his many friends in Atlanta.

Ulrich says that Rube looks to be in bad shape; that his cheeks are sunken in, and that he is about all in.

The Hebrew Orphans' Home baseball team met and defeated the Central Avenue Stars by the score of 11 to 0. Rives' pitching and Lessay's and Rives' and Johnson's batting were the features of the game.

SCOTTY WALKER HAS REPORTED

Papa Scotty Walker, the brilliant little infielder of the Crackers, reported for practice Tuesday and jumped into a uniform right away.

Scotty looks to be in pretty good shape, though he is probably even lighter than he was last season. In batting practice, Scotty got a hit the first time up.

SHORTSTOP WALKER.
Scotty reported for practice on Tuesday afternoon.

Scotty got out on the shortfield and the way the little fellow scoops them up and throws them relieves all doubt as to the short station. Scotty is "there." He covers a world of ground like he always does, and has that same old reliable throw.

This leaves Tom Fisher, Harold Johns, W. Johns, Balenti and Zimmerman.

"GUM" HILL OUT OF GAME FROM SPRAINED ANKLE

Montgomery Hill, the fast little Tech catcher, sprained his ankle in practice Tuesday afternoon to such an extent that it is very improbable that he will be able to play any more this season. This is Hill's third year on the team, and his second year as backstop, and his loss will be felt beyond estimate.

The team had just about finished a very fast afternoon's practice when "Gum," who was on third, attempted to regain his base. The spikes on his left shoe caught in the sack, and his ankle turned.

The first college game is April 6, with Mercer here in Atlanta. However, there is a game with Riverside Saturday at Tech Flats, and as the team now stands Riverside stands a pretty good chance of winning.

HORSE RACING DEAD IN NEW YORK STATE

New York, March 21.—Horse racing is dead in New York state, for this year at least. The Jockey Club issued a statement tonight saying that because of adverse legislation it had been decided to make no application for dates. This news came out almost simultaneously with the reports from New Orleans that horse owners believe the sport beyond revival there.

Announcement to this effect has been expected for some time. Since the passage of the anti-betting bills urged by Governor Hughes the sport has been on a steady decline, and with the passage of the law making directors of racing asssciations responsible for betting it became apparent that barriers had been raised which threatened its extinction.

The closing of the courses means that the racing plants in the state, valued at many millions of dollars, will lie idle. Thousands of employees will also suffer.

What effect the decision of the Jockey Cub will have upon the great breeding establishments cannot be foretold.

DERRICK TO UMPIRE IN SALLY LEAGUE

Derrick, who umpired in the Texas League last season, and who has been umpiring the exhibition games at Ponce de Leon Park, will work in the South Atlantic League this season. Derrick is a mighty good umpire, and it would pay the moguls of this league to keep their eyes on this fellow.

Deppins Play A. B. C.

The Atlanta Deppins, the negro ball club under the management of A. B. Spear, the former groundkeeper at Ponce de Leon park, will play the Atlanta Baptist college at the latter's grounds this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The admission fee will be 25 cents.

Hackenschmidt Throws Roller.

Knoxville, Tenn., March 21.—George Hackenschmidt, the Russian lion, defeated Dr. B. F. Roller, of Seattle, in straight falls of a finish wrestling match here tonight. The first bout went one hour and ten minutes and the second thirteen minutes. The Russian was never in danger.

WILL ATLANTA GET BERGER, MOBILE'S 1910 SHORTSTOP?

According to a story printed in the Mobile Register, Joe Berger, the sensational young shortstop of the Mobile team last season, who was purchased by the Cincinnati team, will become a Cracker in all probability.

Cincinnati has asked and secured waivers on Berger, and according to the Register's story, as Mobile did not want him, Atlanta, who is said to have second choice on him, will get him.

Manager Jordan, when asked about this, did not know anything about it, it being the first intimation that he had that there was a possibility to get the ex-Gull. But he immediately got busy with a wire to Griffith, and is expecting an answer hourly.

IN ILL HEALTH; COMMITS SUICIDE

Locust Grove, Ga., March 21.—(Special.)—Mr. Sam J. Cleveland, a most highly respected citizen of this place, tonight at 8:30 o'clock committed suicide by shooting himself in the head with a 32-caliber pistol.

The children having gone to church, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland had just retired. Only a few minutes after retirement Mrs. Clveland was awakened by the report of the pistol and found her husband fatally shot. She began to scream for aid and assistance soon reached her. Mr. Cleveland died one hour after shooting himself. The pistol was tightly gripped in his right hand when reached by his neighbors.

Ill health is attributed as the cause of the tragedy. He had often made threats of taking his life. He leaves a wife, two sons and one daughter.

GREENE TELLS HOW HE SPENT FORTUNE

got it, but whether or not he has any at this time.

"We are not trying over the case that was tried in Savannah," he said, "neither are we going into ancient history. I rule out any references to the Savannah trial and conviction."

Worth $700,000.

Among the first questions put to the witness had to do with the Atlantic Contracting Company and its operations in and around Savannah between 1893 and 1897. The witness admitted that his profits from the business in the period mentioned was in the neighborhood of $500,000, which was one-third of the profits the company made. The other two-thirds went equally to Gaynor and Carter, he testified. In addition to this, the witness testified, he was worth in 1897 $166,000, cleared in other contracting work and some $57,000 which was invested in government bonds.

Where It Went.

"Now, Mr. Greene," said Mr. Irwin, "tell us what has become of this money."

"I have spent, lost and given it all away," came the answer. "I lost quite a sum in real estate deals, much more in stock market speculations, paid attorneys' fees amounting to over $100,000, and spent thousands of dollars for living expenses, which for a number of years were heavy, indeed."

Following this, Mr. Irwin asked the witness to go into details, and the remainder of the afternoon's session was taken up threshing over details of transactions made between 1893 and 1901. The assistant district attorney went exhaustively into all Mr. Greene's business transactions during this period, asking most searching questions about even small expenditures.

From time to time Mr. Greene's attorneys objected on the grounds that this matter was irrelevant, claiming that transactions made only after the conviction of the witness were relevant to the case in hand.

"That depends," ruled the commissioner, "on whether or not the attorney expects to later connect up these facts in his efforts to trace some of the funds to the present time."

"That is just what I expect to do, your honor," Mr. Irwin replied.

Later along in the session, when Mr. Irwin was going thoroughly into a transaction which involved only a few hundred dollars, Mr. Rountree again objected and the commissioner partially sustained his objection by suggesting to Mr. Irwin that he thought it was about time to begin "a little connecting" and leaving out a few details.

The major portion of the session was taken up with the investigation of transactions made by the witness in real estate and losses sustained by him on the stock market. This search revealed the fact that he had lost several considerable sums by unwise purchases and the endorsement of real estate notes and that he had dropped something over $40,000 in the stock market prior to 1902. His losses in the stock market were under discussion when the hearing was adjourned at 6:30 o'clock to be continued at 9 o'clock this morning.

COTTON EASED OFF IN THE LATE TRADING

Market Closed Barely Steady at Net Decline of One to Ten Points.

New York, March 21.—The cotton market was very quiet today, and after showing a pretty steady undertone, during the greater part of the session, eased off in the late trading, with the close barely steady, at a net decline of 1@10 poitns.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1@5 points, which was about in line with the relatively steady showing of Liverpool. Realizing caused a reaction to about the cloisng figures of last night during the first few minutes, but leading bull brokers gave the market moderate suport on the decline, and prices soon firmed up again, holding within a point or two of last night's closing figures during the middle of the day. Offerings became a little heavier late in the afternoon, however, and prices reached the lowest level of the day in the last few minutes, closing at practically the bottom. Selling may have been encouraged, to some extent, by continued unfavorable domestic trade accounts and advices from Austria, claiming that Austrian spinners would curtail production 25 per cent for nine months, beginning with April. It was also reported that Lancashire spinners would vote on the proposition to curtail their production by closing down on Saturdays for three months, beginning with April, and that the result of the vote would probably be known here by the end of the week. There was nothing in the way of southern news to create any fresh sentiment as to preliminary crop prospects, and the advance of the planting season finds the local trade looking for increased acreage reports and a favorable start for the crop with good weather during the spring. Leading bull interests seemed to be giving the new crop months some support today, however, and general business is probably restricted by a tendency to await fresh developments in respect to the old crop positions and for a nearer view of the new crop outlook before forming any decided opinion as to the probable course of prices during the end of the season. The report of the census bureau on the supply and distribution of the crop since the first of September will be issued Friday, and will show stocks in the hands of domestic mills as of March 1.

Receipts at ports today 9,997 bales, against 9,554 last week and 24,213 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans, 2466, against 9,414 last year, and at Houston 1,777, against 1,684 last year.

Spot closed quiet; middling uplands 14.60; middling gulf 14.85; sales, 997 bales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, March 21.—Cotton steady, unchanged; sales on spot, 750 bales; to arrive, 100; low ordinary, 11 3-16, nominal; ordinary, 12, nominal; good ordinary, 13 7-16; strict good ordinary, 13 1-16; low middling, 14⅛; strict low middling, 14⅜; middling, 14⅝; strict middling, 14⅞; good middling, 15 1-16; strict good middling, 15¼; middling fair, 15½; middling fair to fair, 15¾; fair, 16¼, nominal. Receipts 2,466; stock, 116,091.

Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 3 to 5 points on good cables. The weather map indicated dry weather everywhere in the cotton belt, and this stimulated buying of the new crop months, for the general opinion is that not enough rain has fallen to carry the belt over the planting season. No great activity was in evidence in the early trading. Outside traders were not in the market, and business was chiefly done by room traders and ring scalpers. At the end of the first half hour of trading, prices were 5 to 6 points over yesterday's close.

Throughout the morning session, ring scalpers continued to furnish the bulk of the business transacted. At first, the demand and supply were about evenly balanced, but later short sales increased as the result of very favorable reports from Texas, where in counties not well covered in official weather reports, the rainfall at the end of last week appears to have been in heavier than at first thought, several important cotton sections reporting from four to six inches. Late in the morning, the market was inclined to sag and at noon, May was 1 point under yesterday's close, while the other active months were unchanged to 2 points up compared with the same level.

In the afternoon session, the market was dull and had a tendency to sag.

At 2 o'clock the trading months were unchanged to 5 points down compared with yesterday's close.

New Orleans, March 21.—Cotton futures closed steady at a net decline of 4 points on the old crops and unchanged on the new compared with yesterday's close.

Dry Goods.

New York, March 21.—Additional revisions in the prices of branded and bleached cotton were announced during the day. The cotton good market rules very quiet. Some small export trade is reported with China, the sales to date aggregating about 1,500 bales. The yarn markets continue quiet.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, March 21.—Liverpool sent good cables and an improved demand in Manchester is reported. Our market opened at a slight advance, rather confused and susceptible to any immediate influence. Trading was light, and on any advance selling orders appeared, which speedily sapped the earlier strength, and prices easily declined under the moderate pressure. The market is narrow, with no new feature; weather conditions are daily of greater import and the figures of the old crop are losing weight. Yesterday's buyers were sellers, but May and July deliveries are closely watched, and as the market recedes spots are steady. Texas is without rain and planting proceeds confidently. Prices have lost their snap, and the market easily sells off.

Liverpool Cotton.

Liverpool, March 21.—Closing: Cotton spot good business done; prices 2 points higher; American middling, fair 8.27; good middling, 7.95; middling, 7.79; low middling, 7.59; good ordinary, 7.33; ordinary, 7.08. The sales of the day were 10,000 bales, of which 500 were for speculation and export and included 9,700 American. Receipts, 17,000 bales, including 16,900 American. Futures opened firm and closed quiet.

TAKING OF PROFITS DEPRESSED THE STOCKS

Considerable Short Selling by Speculators on the Reaction.

New York, March 21.—In view of the narrowness of the stock market of recent weeks, which has forbidden expectations of wide movements so long as nothing occurs to disturb the present equilibrium, traders were content today to accept profits accruing from the advance of Saturday and yesterday. There was considerable realizing in consequence and the market was hesitating and at times depressing, in contrast to the strong undertone of yesterday after the announcement of further delay in the anti-trust decisions of the supreme court. This condition was accentuated by more active short selling on the part of speculators who regarded a reaction at this time as natural. The recent advance was interrupted effectively in the case of the leading issues, although losses were small.

Traders were bullish, in the main, and the temporary defection from the long side could not be ascribed to alteration of the financial viewpoint. A source of encouragement to the bears, however, was found in the large offerings of stocks on advances, a feature of the market which may be symptomatic of the desire of "insiders" to reduce their holdings. The bears made much, as well, of stagnant trade conditions and other adverse conditions, such as the Mexican situation and lack of public interest in speculation. Apprehensions as to the ability of the railroads to maintain their dividend rates, however, has been quieted, to some extent, by the relatively small reduction of earnings in view of the circumstances of the last few months.

The reorganization of the Missouri Pacific board of directors proceeded according to program and went far beyond that point, inasmuch as the Rockefeller-Kuhn-Loeb interests were given a commanding position in the directorate and executive committee of that road and were also invited by Mr. Gould to positions of power and influence in the Gould properties. This result indicates that such financing as may be needed for purposes of rehabilitation and general improvement will not be lacking. Missouri Pacific became weak on announcement of the outcome of today's meeting and fell nearly 2 points to almost a point below yesterday's close.

Attempts to couple the prevailing dullness of the market with developments in connection with the Carnegie Trust Company were not taken seriously. Although, so far as is known, no final plans have been made for the issuance by the government of the 3 per cent Panama bonds, $10,000 of these bonds "when issued" sold on the curb today at 102. The price is a fraction above the ruling bid price of outstanding government 3s which are available as a basis for circulation, whereas the Panama bonds will not be. The street's appraisal of the value of the forthcoming issue is regarded as foreshadowing its full success.

Apart from increased tension in the Russo-Chinese imbroglio, news from abroad was generally favorable. The settlement in London is proceeding without a hitch, but speculative holdings in American stocks there are now so little, to be without influence. There was some excitement in London over an extensive advance in pig tin. Coppers were unaffected save for a slight advance.

Railroad bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,236,000. United States bonds unchanged on call.

SELLING MAY WHEAT, BUYING JULY OPTION

Wheat Market Declined on Lower Cables and Promise of Rain.

Chicago, March 21.—Liquidation of May wheat started in earnest today. General selling of that option by houses desiring to purchase July narrowed the spread to 1 cent. Lower cables and a promise of rain made the market, as a whole, take the down grade. The close, which was weak, showed a net decline of ½ to 1@1⅛. Latest figures were unchanged to ⅜@½ under last night for corn and were off ¼@⅜ to ⅜ on oats. In provisions the outcome was a rise of 5 to 25 compared with 24 hours before.

Wheat speculators here gave considerable attention to the fact that total stocks on hand in Chicago, public and private, had been reduced only 600,000 bushels in the last two months. At the beginning of the year the trade expected the disappearance of nearly such an amount to be a weekly occurrence. Further cause for discouragement on the part of owners came in dispatches telling that buyers at Liverpool and other European centers had notice of heavy shipments due to arrive soon. Then, too, Washington predicted rain for the southwest and for a portion of the northwest. Crop experts went into the background for the time being, opinion growing that the result in Kansas would depend on the development of the backward acreage in the west end of the state, where some days must elapse before definite signs would appear. Throughout the session prices continued to decline and the close was at almost the bottom figures reached. High and low points for May were 91 and 89⅞ with last sales 1@1⅛ down at 90 even.

Good weather for the movement of corn depressed the market for that cereal. May ranged between 48⅜ and 49¼, closing easy 38 down at 48⅜@48¾. Cash weak; No. 2 yellow finished at 47½@48.

Buying demand for oats was quite limitless during the last part of the session. In consequence the market eased off with other grain. May varied from 30¾@30⅞ to 31¼ and closed at 30⅞, a loss of ⅜ from the figures current the corresponding time the previous day.

With hog receipts small, demand for provisions became active and prices higher. The net gain was 25 for pork 7½ to 15@17½ for lard and 5 to 20@22½ for ribs.

Boston, Mass., March 21.—The Boston wool market continued dull with easy prices. Offerings of new Arizona wools on a secured basis of 50 cents find few takers, but holders show no disposition to shade prices. ABOUT CHICKENS

1. If you have anything the matter with your chickens, do not fail to query this department, or write us of anything of interest in the chicken world.
2. It is not necessary that you should have pure breed poultry to be interested in this column. It is for the good of all chicken raisers.
3. Number your questions and write only on one side of the paper. Where requested only the initials of the writer will be used.
4. Address all your communications to "Uncle Joe," Poultry Department, care The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

By Joseph Wardin.

Your old Uncle does not feel in very good form these chilly, damp, disagreeable nights, so draw your chairs in closer, so that I will not have to exert myself overmuch in talking to "you all." Sorry there are not more of you here tonight, as I want to preface my regular chicken talk with a few words of a more personal nature than commoon, and it is simply this, that when you prepare exchanges for this department, whether stock, eggs or whatnot, that you keep out the price asked for the article or stock offered. It is not fair to the regular advertising patrons of this paper, who pay good money for the privilege of selling their wares through the medium of its columns. Make your exchanges short and to the point, stating what you have and what article you wish to exchange for it, or, if for sale, you might put it this way:

"Grasping Graball, Twomiles, Fromnowhere, has for exchange for offers, or for sale, Rhode Island Red chickens, the best in the world. All red; no white, black or smut; laying every day in the year, Sabbath not excepted. Could sell these birds for long money in New York, but want you to have the advantage of this best of all stock. If you have nothing to exchange for these grand birds, then write me, and let us talk it over on paper."

To test the pulling power of a reading advertisement in this department, I last week, in answer to one of the sisters' questions as to what kind of chickens I bred and the price per setting, I enumerated the breeds and price of eggs per setting, and the queries to that advertisement have not stopped coming in yet, and this has convinced me, as stated above, that it is not fair to the other fellow. During the past several years I have paid out hundreds of dollars in advertising contracts to establish my business, and therefore know how it hurts legitimate advertisers to see people getting free "ads.," and that the dearest kind—"reading notices." With these few (?) brief remarks and a collection for the Bill Nye fund, will call the incident closed.

The sooner an egg is intrusted to count your chickens "before they are hatched," might with fitness be stretched to "until they are grown." With the selection and mating of the breeding stock the work begins. Vigor here is of paramount importance, for however perfect a chicken may be in all other respects, without a good constitution it is a failure.

The sooner an egg is entrusted to a broody hen, after it is laid, the better. Promptness in hatching is thereby insured and a strong chicken, whereas the chick from a two or three weeks' old egg seldom makes its exit within the usual period, and apparently lacks in vigor. This is almost invariably the case when eggs are provided a hen for setting, while if she "steals her nest" and stacks it with her own product during a space of two or three weeks, some being fresh and others old, the eggs hatch with the greatest uniformity. Here is a mystery, both interesting and important, that doubtless will be solved in time. The daily, or at least frequent return, of the hen to her nest, for the purpose of adding to its contents, must in some way exert an influence over the eggs. Perhaps the regular warmings may tend to keep the germ active and strong, or possibly the moisture on the hen's breast, gathered as she passes through the wet morning grass on her way to her nest, may keep the inner membrane of the eggs in a more natural condition. However, though undesirable, eggs frequently have to be kept a number of days, as sitters are proverbially scarce when in demand, and vice versa. For the proper keeping of the eggs a room or closet not very hot, but far above the freezing point, to be sure, and not so warm as to have a drying tendency, should be provided.

The construction and location of the nests so as to afford complete protection to the inmates from intrusion are indispensable. Where no special provision is made for setting, the eggs simply being placed under the broody hen in ordinary nests, the results are most discouraging—a decided failure. Each nest thus set would become public property forthwith. A hen wishing to lay would take extra trouble to crowd in with one sitting and deposit her fancy. Also, one becoming broody would instantly betake herself to the nest of a sitter, and, without stopping to ask whether she would like to "go halves," step in and claim half. The occupant remonstrating, a scuffle would ensue, resulting in the breakage of at least two or three eggs, and in a final compromise. Nor could a legitimate sitter leave her nest without unfailingly finding it appropriated on her return. "Confusion worse confounded" would reign.

P. S.—Uncle Joe, I forgot to tell you that I am just a little girl.

Answer: Am awfully glad to hear from you, and am glad you understand this department is not alone for grown-up, but little ones as well. Little girls will some day be ladies, and rule over households, and it is well to begin to learn some of the necessary things before hand. Cooking, sewing, mending, baking, feeding and care of chickens, and the growing of flowers, etc. Sixteen eggs from thirty-five hens at this season of the year is doing fairly well. And, by-the-by, won't some of the juniors feel envious when they find you over here with the poultry raisers?

H. C. Leary, Sparta, Ky., R. F. D., 2.—Will you insert on your chicken page: Wanted—Correspondence with a southern lady, not over 50 years of age. I am an old bachelor, and would like to live in the south. I was in it during the Spanish-American war, being a member of the First Kentucky cavalry, and fell in love with the southern people. Yes, Joe, it is your duty to tell your nieces all about my wanting to get married. Now, I think my highest ambition will be attained when I get it printed in The Constitution.

I will exchange a spyglass for Indian Runner duck eggs. The glass opens out 16½ inches, and has lost capp.

Answer: As I have said before, this department is no matrimonial bureau, but since I am ever cognizant of the fact that I stepped into hot water through the medium of this department, am ever on the qui vive for other victims anxious to try the yoke, which yoke is neither easy or light, but of course, you don't believe it, so go ahead and select "you one" from the many that will write you. But for goodness sake don't blame it on me. I warned you. For bruises made by a flat iron or rolling pin try cold water, and for scratches and bites arnica salve. My blessing to you.

P. W. Bryan, Canon, Ga.—I have the famous "Rocks," eight hens, one cock. I have twenty-two young ones. Have thirty Buff Orpington eggs setting. The rest of my hens are laying. Say, Uncle, Joe, I am going to get eggs of several different breeds, besides the ones I have, such as Leghorns, Brahmas, Wyandottes, and have a general Duke's Mixture. Would you do this or not? Would it be best to keep only one breed? I have a 38 Colt's revolver that cost me $16.00, I would like to exchange for pigs or poultry.

I have 60 acres of land in Marion county, Ala., 30 acres in woods, 30 in cultivation and pasture, all good, tillable land. Have a good two-room house with porch and stack chimney, good water, good orchard, on public road, in three-fourths mile of railroad town. Close to three schools, three churches, good locality, that I will exchange for south or middle Georgia farm.

Answer: If you have the "famous Rocks" you have a good all-round chicken up to two years old. After that—I won't promise you.

Duke's Mixture, as I understand it, is made up entirely of one grade of North Carolina tobacco. If you buy eggs of several breeds, hatch the chickens, then let them all run together, you will not have a pure mixture, but a mongrel one—better not try a trick like that. You will only regret it once and that will be as long as you keep the mixture. If you must have a mixture, why not buy common store eggs and let it go at that? Stick to one breed, or at most, two, and you will be better off.

Mrs. L. L., Minden, La., R. 3.—I come to you for advice. I raise Brown Leghorn chickens, therefore get a great many eggs, and as the price of eggs has dropped off, would like to put them up in water glass. Will they keep till next fall if put up now? I had trouble with the eggs I put up in water glass last year; want to ask you what was the matter. The whites were watery-looking and yellow would stick to the shells. I went by directions. To 1 part water glass put 11 parts, water, which I boiled and cooled. Please tell me how to prepare the coal oil dip for chickens, as I want to try it this year; had so much trouble keeping down lice and fleas last year. Will appreciate any advice from you.

Answer—You can put up eggs at any season of the year in water glass, care being taken that the solution does not freeze. Think perhaps you got a little too much water in your last mixture. Next time try 9 parts of water to 1 of water glass. Some of the water glass on the market is stronger than others and can stand more water. When properly mixed eggs can be kept from two to four years.

Kerosene emulsion is made by chipping a quarter of a pound of bar soap in a little water and heating it over the fire until it dissolves. Heat a gallon of water to the boiling point, take off the fire and add the soap, then to this add a pint of kerosene oil and stir rapidly for five minutes, when the whole will look like thick cream. Then set away for use. When ready to dip the birds take a pint of the mixture and put in a tub and add two gallons of lukewarm water. When all is ready dip the fowls in the solution, working it well into the feathers, or until the bird is thoroughly wet. A hot, sunny day, in the morning, is the best time to do it.

SPECULATORS, HOW ABOUT THESE BARGAINS?

10,000 ACRES of land in Sumter county—5,000 acres in cultivation, which is as level as a floor; no rocks or stumps, and can be cultivated with all the latest improved machinery. The railroad runs through about the center of this farm, with station and sidetrack on the place. Part of this land is red, the balance being a gray and chocolate colored soil, with a good clay subsoil, making it very productive. A lot of the land will make from one to two bales of cotton per acre, from 40 to 80 bushels of oats per acre, and from 25 to 75 bushels of corn per acre, and is well adapted to all other crops and truck of all kinds. 1,200 acres of this place is in pasture, enclosed by a good woven wire fence, and will furnish pasture the year round for several hundred head of cattle. The place contains a nice 7-room residence, painted white, two large barns, store house, 60 tenant houses, large ginnery, and all other necessary buildings for an up-to-date farm; seven artesian wells, which furnish an abundance of pure water. This is a beautiful farm, and a great bargain at the price of $15 per acre. On terms of one-third cash and balance at long time, at 7 per cent.

ADVERTISING TALKS.

ministers and regular church attendants.

Now, the question is, Will the churches be able to keep up the interest they aroused through the advertising that they got from the merchants?

Did they MAKE GOOD? Were the sermons good? Was the music good? Were the church people FRIENDLY to the visitors?

In this advertising business, whether it be a church or merchandise that is advertised, one thing must be remembered—that ADVERTISING WILL NOT BRING REPEATED RETURNS UNLESS IT MAKES GOOD.

From time to time this column has urged churches to advertise persistently. They should arouse among the people a GREATER INTEREST in religious affairs—make them feel the necessity of practicing both business and private religion.

There has been a lack of interest in church attendance for a number of years. Boating, swimming, baseball, golf, automobiling—all of the outdoor sports have been more attractive than have the churches.

Are the churches at fault? If they are, why not rectify it by advertising? People can be persuaded to respect the influence of the churches and to attend church services if they are appealed to by ADVERTISING that MAKES GOOD.

The Binghamton lesson is a good one. The generosity of the local merchants should be followed by other merchants throughout the country in order to show what the churches can accomplish through advertising.

Then, when shown, the churches should pay for their own advertising.

STIRRING THE FARMERS AGAINST RECIPROCITY

Resolutions Are Adopted by the Protective Tariff League.

New York, March 21.—Executive officers, members of the executive committee and members of the board of managers of the American Protective Tariff League, at a special meeting here today, adopted resolutions reciting that the manufacturer cannot hope to retain protection for his industry when protection shall have been denied to the farmer, and urging that all friends of protection bring to bear "every proper influence upon congress" against the adoption of the reciprocity agreement with Canada.

Speeches against reciprocity were made by United States Senator Young, of Iowa; Mayor Reyburn, of Philadelphia; Charles Cheney, of Connecticut; and William Barber, of New York, president of the league.
